Fur flies as selectmen call each other liars

by Jeff Nazzaro

With town election just days away, the start and close of Monday's board of selectmen meeting was given not to town business but to town politics.

The festivities began with an objection from Selectman Diane Allan over the approval of minutes, the usual course of business after roll call and the transmitting of the treasury warrant.

Allan said she objected to minutes presented for the Feb. 13 meeting, at which Chairman Michael McCoy read a prepared statement pertaining Allan and Selectman Gerald Duggan and the recent water and sewer investigation by the Wilmington Police Department.

In that statement, McCoy charged that Allan and Duggan attempted to undo safeguards put in place by Town Manager Michael Caira to spare the town prosecution from the District Attorney's Office for illegal acts within the water and sewer department. Changes by Caira included consolidating the water and sewer department within the DPW. In his statement, McCoy references a report from Police Chief Bobby Stewart summarizing the investigation. Neither Allan nor Duggan are named or implicated in this summary or the extensive police report it was drawn from.

During the summer of 1993, Allan and Duggan comprised a subcommittee formed by then Chairman Chester Bruce at their request to look into a 10.5 percent rate increase and attempt to answer "questions regarding the operation of the water department now that it is consolidated with the Department of Public Works," according to a report of the subcommittee issued Oct. 12 of 1993.

Part of that report's conclusion states "We can see no reason why the Water and Sewer Department has to be part of the Dept. of Public Works.... If the Water and Sewer Department was removed from the DPW, the allocated charges could be reduced."

McCoy quoted the first statement in the above paragraph in his Feb. 13 statement. McCoy also at that time charged a conflict of interest and subsequent cover-up attempt by Allan regarding work her husband, George Allan, did for the town through the engineering firm Dufresne-Henry, Inc. Monday, McCoy again charged Diane Allan with the conflict and asked George Allan, who was in the audience, if Dufresne-Henry had ever done work for the town, producing documents from the police report - which includes all department documents available from 1990 to 1993 - showing the company did do business with the town.

George Allan responded from the audience and later issued an impromptu statement to the press stating his company did do work for the town but that no conflict was involved. Allan left the board of water and sewer commissioners in October of 1988, two years before Dufresne-Henry conducted business with the town (between October of 1990 and February of 1992). Diane Allan was elected to the board of selectmen in April of 1993. Allan further stated that "In April of 1990, Town Counsel indicated there was no problem with George Allan working with the town."

Allan said Monday that the portion of the minutes pertaining to McCoy's statement were incomplete and inaccurate.

"I don't want part of the lies in the minutes, I want all of the lies in the minutes.... Mr. McCoy has made these statements with malicious intent, and I want to see them in writing," Allan said.

McCoy countered that Allan's objections were politically motivated - an attempt to publicly call him a liar the week before the election.

Duggan said he wanted part of McCoy's statement - which reads "...well anyone who endorses you endorses the idea to steal..." - also included in the minutes.

At one point during this portion of the meeting, McCoy pointed across the board at Allan, saying "You're out of order, Mrs. Allan, I'm ruling you out of order."

"You can rule me whatever you want," Allan replied, "I object to these minutes."

Cain got in on the act, too, requesting that Allan read McCoy's statement aloud for clarification purposes, after Allan referred to it as "The exact statement relating to me, my husband and my husband's company."

In the end, it was Selectman Chester Bruce, who has not really been a party to either side of the water and sewer debate, but who was agonizing through what was his last meeting as a Wilmington Selectman.

"That's fine, Mr. Cain," Bruce finally said after a motion by Duggan to table the minutes until the next meeting had been seconded by Allan, "I'm not interested in objections, I'm interested in continuing with town business. This is my last meeting and I wanted to go out with a smile, but I'm getting warm."

The vote to table was passed, 3-2, with McCoy and Cain voting against.

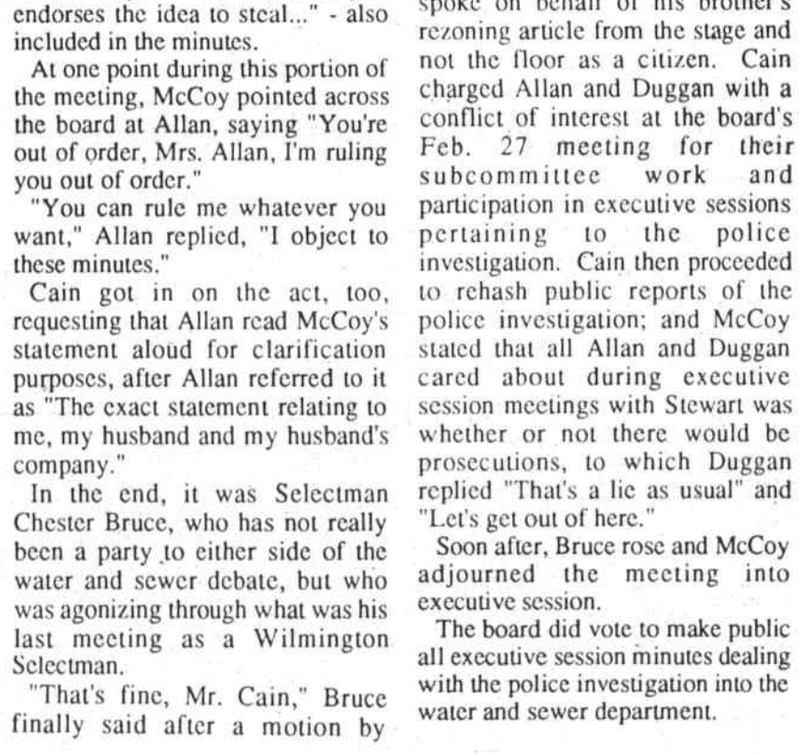

After, Caira explained that "The minutes are intended to be a summary representation as to what happened at the meeting."

What Allan requested, however, was that a verbatim transcription of McCoy's statement be included in the minutes. Following the vote, McCoy directed the board's secretary to make such a transcription available for amendment into the minutes pending a vote.

In the nightcap of this political doubleheader, under "new business," Allan read from a prepared statement, saying essentially that she's not going to take it anymore and issuing conflict of interest countercharges against Cain involving his brother's towing work for the town and an Annual Town Meeting incident where Cain spoke on behalf of his brother's rezoning article from the stage and not the floor as a citizen. Cain charged Allan and Duggan with a conflict of interest at the board's Feb. 27 meeting for their subcommittee work and participation in executive sessions pertaining to the police investigation. Cain then proceeded to rehash public reports of the police investigation; and McCoy stated that all Allan and Duggan cared about during executive session meetings with Stewart was whether or not there would be prosecutions, to which Duggan replied "That's a lie as usual" and "Let's get out of here."

Soon after, Bruce rose and McCoy adjourned the meeting into executive session.

The board did vote to make public all executive session minutes dealing with the police investigation into the water and sewer department.

May 13 will be "Bike Day"

by Jeff Nazzaro

A big-time bicycle bonanza is shaping up for Saturday, May 13 at the Swain School, as various organizations in town will offer up more two-wheeled fun than you can shake a Schwinn at.

Events kick-off at 8 a.m. with the Wilmington Family Counseling Service's Family Bicycle Tour, a six-kilometer, fun, fund raising bike jaunt around town. Donations being asked are $10 per adult and $5 per child entered. T-shirts will be given to the first 50 registrants, with other prizes to be announced later.

Beginning at 9 a.m., the Wilmington Kiwanis Club will hold its 2nd Annual Bicycle Safety Rodeo with help from members of the Wilmington Firefighters Union and Police Patrolman's Association.

The focus of the rodeo will be to teach children to avoid the three most dangerous cycling situations: those involving driveways, crossroads, and traffic approaching from the rear.

The rodeo will also provide kids with incentive to want to wear bicycle helmets - beyond the requirement by law for kids under the age of 14.

In conjunction with the rodeo, the Wilmington Lions Club will be collecting and selling bicycles. For this the club is seeking donations of usable bicycles up to the date of the sale. They will pick them up and spiff them up, then sell them. Those wishing to donate bicycles to the Lions Club can contact Mike Burns, at 658-2038, or any other member of the Lions Club.

And to ensure that no one has an excuse not to wear a helmet, Kiwanis Club members will be on hand all morning selling bicycle helmets at wholesale prices. The Kiwanis Club is also looking for additional volunteers for its Bicycle Safety Rodeo. Interested persons can contact the Town Crier at 658-2346.

So whether you're looking for safety instruction, exercise, a new bike or just plain fun, join the cycling festivities May 13 at the Swain School.

Good night, Chet

by Jeff Nazzaro

After 18 years as an elected official for the town, Selectman Chester Bruce bid farewell to the Wilmington Board of Selectmen and public life Monday night.

In what could have been his final meeting as a public servant, Bruce, who announced at the Jan. 23 selectmen's meeting he would not seek reelection for a third term on the board (though left open the possibility he may run in the future), thanked the townspeople, town employees, and his wife, Joan, and eight children in a short but emotional speech near the close of the meeting.

"Last of all, I would like to thank my wife and family for the time to be here, because they've given it to me," he said.

Prior to that moment, the board offered thanks and well-wishes to Bruce, who served the last six years on the board of selectmen, including one as chairman. Bruce spent the 12 years before his election to the board as a member of the conservation commission, the last 11 as chairman.

Chairman Michael McCoy, who succeeded Bruce in the center seat, presented the latter with a plaque - complete with chairman's gavel - on behalf of the board. Board members then offered individual thanks to Bruce.

Selectman Bob Cain took a roast-like approach in reminiscing over past differences with Bruce.

"For those times you were wrong," he said, "I forgive you."

Selectman Diane Allan spoke of occasional discord as well. "...And though we have disagreed, we can agree to disagree without being disagreeable," she told Bruce.

Selectman Gerry Duggan, who has sat literally next to Bruce during the last two of his three years on the board, spoke of the many "side bar" conversations the two men have had during that time.

Town Manager Michael Caira spoke of a "very good and positive relationship" in thanking Bruce for his time on the board.

"I think he's going to be missed by the board of selectmen and the Town of Wilmington," Caira said.

Bruce left with not only thanks, but a small piece of advice to the board. He suggested that maybe personal differences between board members could be settled after meetings, even with an audience, and that selectmen's meetings themselves should be left for town business.

But he closed with a very simple message: "I thank you all. It's been a pleasure to serve the board of selectmen."

Impressionism makes its mark at Abundant Life

Joseph Orlandello, Heidi Brown and Amada McCabe won top awards in the recent"Impressionism and its Influence" student art show held at the Abundant Life Christian School in Wilmington.

The school cafeteria was transformed into an art gallery for two days as students in kindergarten through eighth grade displayed works done in an impressionistic style.

Mrs. Kathy Phillips, art teacher for fifth through eighth grade students and show organizer, developed the theme and guidelines for student entries. During art classes, Mrs. Phillips introduced the students to impressionists and some of their works and created art lessons encouraging development of their own impressionistic style.

For the show, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade students were required to select an impressionist, write a research paper on the artist and his work or her works, create an original work in the artist's style or duplicate a favorite work and then creatively display these and any related information. This was completed outside of their art classes.

Results were stunning! Judges had their work cut out for them as they commented on style, interpretation, emotion, dramatic use of color and other attributes. Monet, Van Gogh, Cezanne, Whistler, Cassatt, and many others were the source of the students' inspiration.

Elementary students were introduced to impressionism by their art teachers, Miss Kelly James, kindergarten; Mrs. Lori Farrell, first grade; Mrs. Ruth Wuthrich, second and fourth grade and Mrs. Janet McCabe, third grade. Then each week, students were encouraged to create an impressionistic work using a variety of different mediums. In the end, they selected their favorite work for entry into the show.

Local artists, Mrs. Barbara Groom of Tewksbury; Mrs. Nancy Goddard of North Reading and Don Jalbert of Peabody, judged the show, awarding prizes to three Best of Show works including an art set donated by Joseph Nola, owner and operator of the Artist Shoppe in Reading.

Joseph Orlandello, an eighth grade student, won Best in Show with a copy of Picasso's "The Child with a Dove." Heidi Brown, sixth grade, won second place overall with her version of Van Gogh "Starry Night." Amanda McCabe, a fifth grade student, won third place overall with a copy of Van Gogh's "Sunflowers."

"The quality of the work is remarkable," said Mrs. Groom as the judging concluded. Mrs. Goddard, a watercolor artist and former art teacher, was impressed with the strength of the entire body of work.

Judges also awarded first, second, third and honorable mention awards at each grade level,and special awards for a particularly admirable characteristic in a work.

Place winners are on display at the Wilmington Public Library, which many of the students used to help research their artists. And Vivaldi's "Four Seasons" enhances a half hour program highlighting the artists and their work which is airing on WCTV, Wilmington's Cable station.

Artists Heidi Brown, second place, Joseph Orlandello, first place and Amanda McCabe who took third place pose by their copies of famous works by impressionists.

The Answer is:

"NO".

• Last week on APRIL 5, 1995, Selectman Duggan paid for a full page political ad on Page 3 in this newspaper, attacking me (Selectman Mike McCoy) more vigorously than he was attacking his opponents. And I am not even running for Selectman.

• Last week, Selectman Duggan made a DIRECT QUOTE, showing malicious intent, trying to mislead and deceive the residents of Wilmington, in a last ditch effort to become re-elected.

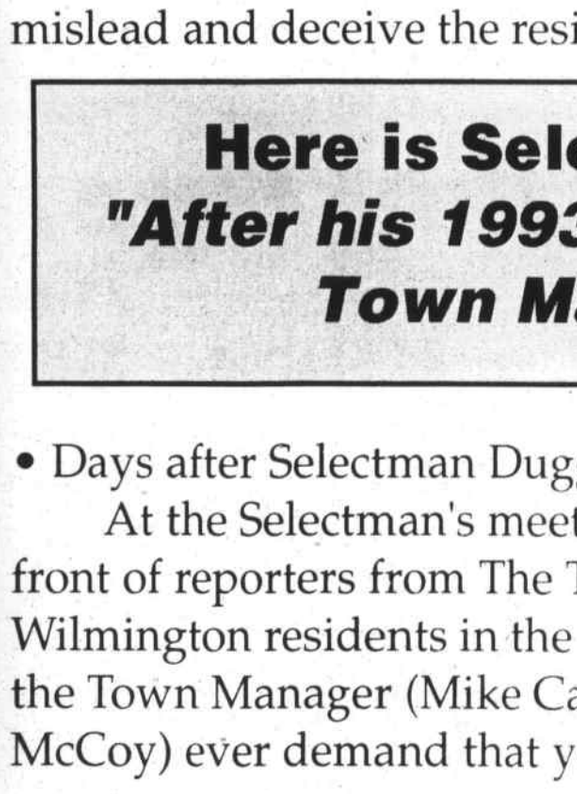

Here is Selectman Duggan's DIRECT QUOTE:
"After his 1993 election, McCoy demanded that the Town Manager perform an illegal act."

• Days after Selectman Duggan's DIRECT QUOTE:

At the Selectman's meeting on Monday, APRIL 10, 1995, LIVE at 10:30 p.m. on WCTV, in front of reporters from The Town Crier, The Lowell Sun, and the Wilmington Advertiser, with Wilmington residents in the audience and on LIVE T.V., I, (Mike McCoy) unexpectedly asked the Town Manager (Mike Caira) in reference to Selectman Duggan's accusation: "Did I (Mike McCoy) ever demand that you perform an illegal act?"

The Town Manager's response on LIVE T.V. was "NO".

It's YOUR Money

YOU, THE IRS, AND THE POST OFFICE

There is a reason why tax returns and other important documents should be sent to the Internal Revenue Service by certified mail. The receipt you get is your only proof of filing on time. Your return is considered filed when mailed - but only if the IRS receives it. If it is lost in the mail, there is no postmarked envelope to prove it.

If you move, let the IRS know. If the IRS sends you a deficiency notice and for some reason the post office does not forward it, it's your headache; the notice is still considered valid, even if you don't get a chance to contest it. Best bet: file IRS Form 8822 when you change your address. Call 800-829-3676 for a free copy of the form.

If you get any sort of notice from the IRS, even if you're sure it's in error, do not ignore it. Penalties and interest may ensue. Answer it promptly, including a copy of the notice and your Social Security number. If you have any questions, see your tax adviser; be sure he or she gets copies of all your correspondence with the IRS.

You lost. You all lost!

by Stu Neilson

WCTV, the local access station in Wilmington, could really boost their ratings, if only they would change their schedule. If they could rebroadcast the Selectmen's meeting a few more times before the election on Saturday, the voters would all get a chance to see it. But the meeting is not scheduled to be re-broadcast until next Tuesday. What a shame!

Everyone knows that what sells is... dirt. And dirt is what they did. At the outset of this political season I poked a little fun with a cartoon depicting politicians slinging mud across a fence at one another. But now the viewers, the voters of Wilmington, are getting that mud all over them.

It's a disgrace. Grown men and women yelling and screaming, calling each other liars, each doing their best to make the others look like cheats.

Well, you all lost. Every voter at home, in the meeting room or reading accounts of the event will change their vote. Whatever you wanted to achieve by that show – You Lost. Mr. Duggan, Mrs. Allan, Mr. McCoy, Mr. Cain – you all lost.

Does the candidate support spot zoning?

Dear Larz:

I attended the recent April 4, League of Women Voters Candidates' Night and would like to comment on and expand on one of the questions asked of the candidates relative to the petitions to change zoning at town meeting. A citizen asked the candidates about spot zoning and in their responses, the 20 Concord Street site was mentioned. I would like to ask selectman candidate Rooney, who has a political campaign sign posted supporting the zoning change of this environmentally sensitive does he also support initiating commercial construction before the zoning has been changed.

It appears to me, that selectman candidate Rooney is construction activities without proper permitting and in violation of the DEP SOC. Do the voters of Wilmington really want a selectman who publicly appears to support the "business as usual" attitude, for a site where the septic design plans have been misplaced and the building plans on file do not match the building being constructed? Is this really the message he wants to send to the voter of Wilmington, that the supports these activities?

Respectfully,
George Lingenfelter
Hydrogeologist

Shame on you!

Dear Larz:

I attended last night's Selectmen's meeting for two reasons. The second reason was to address the issue of train horns. The first reason was the honor an old friend and adversary, Chet Bruce, at his last meeting as a selectman. The presentation to Chet was nice and the words were, I am sure, genuine. It is a shame that the board could not follow Chet's example by separating politics from personality.

The spectacle that I witnessed Monday night was disgraceful. Not only was their retiring colleague owed more, but the actions of the board (Chet excluded) served to embarrass themselves and every citizen in the community.

I am sorry that after Chet spoke about giving people respect, his colleagues chose to ignore his words. The Committee to Stop the Train Whistles came to the meeting and was very well prepared, well informed and respectful of the board, the fire chief and others in the audience. Don't they have the right to expect the same from the board?

April 10, 1995 was not a proud night for Wilmington. Everyone involved should be ashamed of themselves and issue the townspeople an apology.

Sincerely,
Mark Haldane

Wrong side of the tracks?

Dear Larz:

I think the train whistle issue is much too trivial to justify spending $3000. on a special town meeting.

Can't the committee wait until the next regular town meeting? I fail to see the urgency of the matter and I live right near the train!

Thanks, Coach!

Dear Larz:

I just want to thank my coach Ernie Delle Donne for a good year and an excellent plane ride. You see, we won the River Valley Championship game March 25 versus North Reading, 28 to 25.

On April 2 Mr. Delle Donne took us on a plane ride for a celebration on his plane (named Howie) at Lawrence airport. He took three players at a time for 45 minutes each. We all had a nice time and I hope Mr. Delle Donne did with coaching our team in the 94-95 season.

Wizard of Oz was magical

Dear Larz:

This past weekend, my husband and I attended a presentation of the Wizard of Oz, conducted by the Drama Club of Tewksbury Memorial High School. I would like to congratulate the high school students, staff and administration for an enjoyable evening.

It was nice to see young families with pre-schoolers in the audience. The young children were mesmerized with the colorful and creative costumes and set design. It was a tremendous undertaking requiring the participation of many students. It was a pleasure to see so many students and staff engaged in making a positive community contribution.

Sincerely,
Paula B. Coppola

Thanks for the coverage

Dear Larz:

Allow me to thank your paper for the coverage of the Tewksbury political hopefuls, including myself. I appreciate your attempt to keep residents and voters informed.

I would also like to thank everyone who supported me during the campaign and a special thanks to everyone who voted for me. I'm proud of my 811 votes, and pleased to have met so many wonderful people who care about our schools. Everyone, please continue to be informed, to communicate, to be involved and to support our Tewksbury Public Schools.

Thank you,
Liz Kelley

Wrong, dead wrong!

Dear Larz:

I would like to respond to a single statement made by Diane Allan in her letter to the editor of the April 5th issue of the Town Crier when she states "Politics comes before reason and family." McCoy and Cain will give up their personal needs for political needs."

First of all Mrs. Allan, you are dead wrong about that. You are out of line by that statement, but I will respond later in the letter.

When you and Michael (Chairman McCoy) first got elected back in April 1993, I was so proud of you. I had a picture of the both of you, just after you both won the election, on my refrigerator. I was proud to think that you and I had gone to the same school (Katharine Gibbs) and a fellow alumnae had accomplished so great a hurdle as to enter the world of politics in which men usually dominate.

In the days and months to follow the election, you called my home almost daily to talk to Michael, but always talked to me first. I considered you a friend and looked forward to seeing you and Michael work together on the board. But it all came to an end just a few weeks later when Michael cast the swing vote to reappoint Mike Caira as town manager, and as we all know, you and Gerry Duggan voted in opposition to that reappointment.

After that single vote to reappoint the town manager, you stopped calling my house. In fact, the last time you called us was the afternoon of the selectmen's meeting in which the vote of the town manager's reappointment was to take place.

Mrs. Allan, you disappointed me. Your behavior to follow this vote is the reason why more women are not in politics. Many people view female politicians as vindictive, grudge holding, and childish when things don't go their way and you, Mrs. Allan, have displayed all of the above. Michael did not vote with you and it seems you have been getting back at him ever since. You are a disgrace to female politicians and I hope that people won't think that they are all like you.

I would like to say to you Mrs. Allan, in response to your statement that Michael puts politics before family: you are dead wrong, Mrs. Allan, dead wrong. Michael is the absolute epitome of husband and father. He is entirely devoted to our family in his heart and whole being.

He is in politics to make the town a better place to live for his family and this benefits all of Wilmington. He works hard to make a better life for our three kids and myself. He puts our needs before his own at all times. Michael McCoy is the most decent, honest and hardworking man I know. Our family is his life and everything he says and does is for us. How dare you to say otherwise.

Michael McCoy is a devoted father and husband and I love him for his strength and honesty. Don't you ever try to smear his character by saying he puts politics before family again.

P.S. It's obvious that through your letter to the editor, you are desperately trying to get your friend and ally Gerry Duggan re-elected. You talk about mud-slinging, Mrs. Allan? You attack my husband's impeccable family values. Have you any shred of common decency?

Proudly,
Danielle M. McCoy

Boosters need support

Dear Larz:

Each year the Wilmington Boosters Association provides scholarships for deserving young athletes. We also fund the plaques and trophies that are awarded to every senior athlete at the annual sports banquet. When Wilmington High School has an award winning team, such as last year's softball team, we provide championship picture plaques to acknowledge excellence in sports.

When you attend football games in the fall,we are the group manning the refreshment booth, selling 50/50 raffle tickets, Wildcat sit upons, mugs, and water bottles. We are a small but dedicated group of parents trying to raise money for the athletic scholarships we award each year.

We will be at the Town Hall on Saturday, April 14, during voting hours (10 a.m.-8 p.m.) an would appreciate any and all support to help us continue to provide for our student athletes.

We will be selling the Wildcat sit upons (seat cushions), pins, stickers, mugs and water bottles. Donations will also be gratefully accepted.

Sincerely,
Wilmington Boosters

Nebraska student studies Massachusetts

Dear Larz:

I am in the fifth grade at Northeast Elementary in Kearney, Nebraska. I have adopted your state as a class project. I will be doing a report and other projects. Then in early May my class is having a "States Fair." I will display and report everything I have learned about your state. It would be helpful to me if you could print this letter in your newspaper. If you are unable to print my letter, please let me know as many of my classmates have had letters printed and have received some very helpful information and materials.

I could use postcards of your state, maps, brochures, information about wildlife, industry, neat places to visit, statistics, sports teams, and any other information or items your readers feel would be helpful.

I have always wanted to visit your state, so I chose it for my state to study this school year. I have already written to a fifth grade class in your city. I hope your readers can help with my project.

Thank you from Nebraska.

One set of rules? Not!

Dear Larz:

I was very surprised to see a letter to the editor from Tom Siracusa responding to my letter in the same day's paper. I wondered how that could happen. I lately found out that the same letter I sent to the Wilmington Advertiser was leaked by the Advertiser to Siracusa. This just doesn't pass the smell test!

It goes to prove that there is one set of rules for Siracusa and his pals and another set or rules for the rest of us.

William P. (Billy) Nee
Harris Street, Wilmington

P.S. Now I know I'm going to give Gerry Duggan my vote; and only Gerry Duggan!

Trust your own judgment

Dear Larz:

I'm sure you have all heard the saying, "He who steals my purse steals nothing, but he who steals my good name steals all I have." Over the course of the past several months, you have been witness to an all out, no-holds-barred campaign to destroy my good name and that of my family. For a long time I refused to respond to this attack: wanting to focus only on the issues and my record in my campaign for reelection to the Board of Selectmen.

I believed, and I still do, that those of you who know me, know the content of my character. You know that I cannot be controlled or influenced. You know the values and beliefs I stand for. But Wilmington is changing and some of you don't know me. In recent weeks, even some who do know me have questioned my silence. I regret that, due to the maliciousness of the attacks against me, I am forced to retaliate. I cannot allow the principles I have lived by to be distorted and misrepresented by those whose grab-for-power is dependent (in part) on keeping me out of office simply because I don't agree with them.

I have told you the truth as I know it. In both my personal and professional life, I have always tried to be honest, fair and compassionate. And I will continue to do so, but Gerry Duggan is not the issue here. The real heart of this matter is the integrity of the democratic process itself and whether or not any citizen can feel free to exercise his or her rights or express his or her opinion without fear of threats, intimidation or character assassination.

It has been said that we get the government we deserve. What kind of government do you deserve? What role models do you want for your children? If you are elderly, handicapped, in need of services, struggling to provide for your family or just plain "un-connected" who will be your advocate? I urge you to ask your self these questions. Trust your own judgment and on Election Day, vote your conscience.

Very truly yours,
Gerry Duggan

THE 3 ISSUES IN SELECTMEN'S RACE

1. DIVISIVE POLITICS

At the LWV Candidates Forum, Tom Siracusa and Mark Haldane said Divisive Politics was a problem on the Board. I am in 100% agreement. What they didn't say was that the causes were Mike McCoy and Bob Cain, their two biggest supporters.

Anyone who has watched the Selectmen's meetings has seen Chairman McCoy and Cain turn them into a circus sideshow. I have not responded to their ranting and raving because I have too much respect for the Board and the people of Wilmington. If I responded to all their lies and innuendo, nothing would be accomplished at the meetings and they would deteriorate further.

HERE ARE EXAMPLES THAT POINT TO THE CAUSE OF DIVISIVE POLITICS

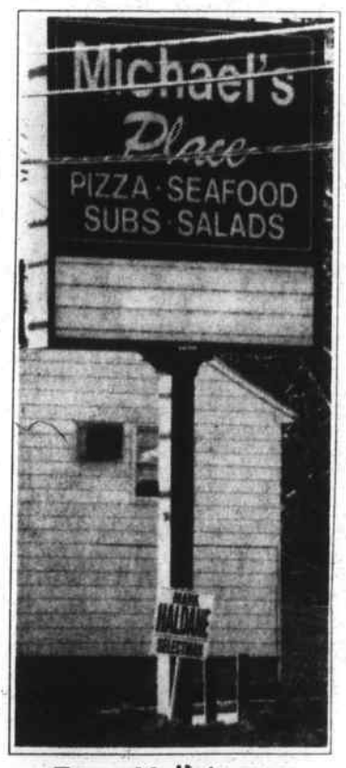

- McCoy at 2/13/95 Meeting abuses his position as Chairman to call me a thief and tell people not to vote for me.
- Board of Health and Conservation Commission speak against McCoy's liquor license and Selectmen deny it. Duggan and Allan are the "bad guys" because we didn't vote for McCoy and against the recomendations of other Boards.
- McCoy confronts and intimidates Allan in parking lot after a late night meeting because she didn't vote for his license. She files Police complaint.
- McCoy stonewalls Master Plan Update as an agenda item from September 1994 to March 1995 in spite of four requests from Allan. Could the stonewalling have something to do with his Article at this Town Meeting to rezone his former house property from Residential to Central Business?
- Cain at 3/27/95 is suddenly concerned about ethics and conflict of interest. Quoted in paper as saying Allan and Duggan influenced the police investigation. Police Chief is quoted as saying – "No one influenced me." Cain indicates he is sending letter to State Ethics Commission.
- McCoy intimates that problems all relate to Allan's and Duggan's lack of support for Town Manager's contract. Check the contract – there are 5 signatures on it!

WHAT IS THE CAUSE OF DIVISIVE POLITICS?

2. THE CHAIN OF POWER & INFLUENCE

McCOY

- INTIMIDATION
  - DOUBLE STANDARD
    - HYPOCRISY
      - LIQUOR LICENSE
        - HALDANE — CAIN — SIRACUSA
- ABUSE OF POWER
  - BIG EGO
    - CHARACTER ASSASSINATION
      - SPOT REZONING
        - HALDANE — CAIN — SIRACUSA

McCoy, Siracusa & Haldane... Part of Journalism Ethics Meltdown

All three were advised of letters to editor, addressed to the Wilmington Advertiser and the Town Crier, by Advertiser staff before the letters were published. The letters were from two people supporting my candidacy and were hand delivered. The Advertiser staff faxed or read both letters to McCoy, Siracusa and Haldane. They were allowed to respond with letters of their own in the same issue of the Advertiser. Siracusa went one step further and responded in the Town Crier. Has anyone ever heard of such a thing before? These three will stoop to any level to get what they want. There is no honor or ethics with these politicians and wannabe politicians.

THE TRUTH

Over the past several months you have heard about the Water Investigation. Some people have tried to indicate that there was a coverup. They have also tried to confuse everyone by mixing two separate investigations together. The following is a summary of both investigations.

POLICE INVESTIGATION

- BY POLICE DEPT.
- ADDRESSED ACTIVITIES BEFORE 1992
- NO ONE TRIED TO INTERFERE WITH POLICE
- NO ONE INFLUENCED POLICE CHIEF
- RECOMMENDED NO PROSECUTION
- ENTIRE REPORT MADE PUBLIC JAN. 23,1995. PEOPLE SHOULD READ AND DRAW OWN CONCLUSIONS.
- GERRY DUGGAN IS NOT MENTIONED IN THIS REPORT

SELECTMEN'S INVESTIGATION

- SUB-COMMITTEE ESTABLISHED BY VOTE OF BOARD
- REVIEWED FINANCIAL INFORMATION FOR FISCAL YEAR 1993
  - ALLOCATION OF COSTS
  - RATE STRUCTURE
  - ENTERPRISE ACCOUNTING
- REVIEWED STAFF QUALIFICATIONS
  - CERTIFICATIONS
  - PROBLEMS WITH WATER SUPT. (WHO HAS SINCE LEFT TOWN)
- COST = $250 FOR PRINTING. NO ONE CAN SUBSTANTIATE THE REPORTED $25,000 COST BECAUSE THE TOWN DID NOT SPEND ANY EXTRA MONEY. ASK TO SEE THE CHECKS FOR $25,000 – THERE ARE NONE!
- NO RECOMMENDATION TO RETURN TO "THE GOOD OLD DAYS"
- REPORT MADE PUBLIC OCT. 23, 1993

People who know me know that I have the highest standards of honesty and integrity. I have followed those standards in my daily life and in the 3 years on the Board of Selectmen.

Students get set for Tech science fair

Students at Shawsheen Tech have chosen topics and are beginning to work on the research for their projects in the annual Science Fair at the school, set for Thursday, May 4.

"We anticipate more than 50 projects, representing most of the school's 19 technical programs," said Ron Fusco, who is coordinating the event with Duane Cleak and David Whalley.

Students can present either individual or small group projects. Savings bonds are awarded as prizes. "The Parents Advisory Council has been very generous in supporting the fair by providing prices," said Fusco. "We would like to get some area businesses involved as well," he added. Area employers who would like to make a contribution in any amount to contact Dave Whalley at the school, 508-667-2111. All participants receive certificates; all prize contributors will be recognized.

Students in the third grade at the Shawsheen School in Wilmington were all ears listening for the musket fire as Lt. Jim Murray of the Wilmington Minutemen demonstrated his musket on Tuesday morning. Murray and Bob and Hope Paulsen presented the life of a Revolutionary Soldier to the students. Murray is shown fixing his bayonet to his musket, then Bob Paulsen demonstrated how much more effective a weapon the bayonet was than the musket, as Murray could not reload before Paulsen could approach with his deadly bayonet

When You Vote on Saturday, Remember It's a Matter of ETHICS:

A Vote For MARK HALDANE

is a vote to return ETHICS and PROFESSIONALISM to the Board of Selectmen

* MARK HALDANE HAS A PROVEN RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT
Downsizing government, saving taxpayers' dollars and successfully meeting the challenges of leading charitable, governmental and private organizations have marked Haldane's career.

* MARK HALDANE HAS LEFT DIRTY CAMPAIGNS TO OTHERS
Mark Haldane has avoided negative campaigning. He defends his record when attacked and when he is elected, he will defend your interests equally! Demand professionalism and ethics from your public officials by voting this Saturday for Mark Haldane!

MARK HALDANE WILL NOT BE INVOLVED IN CONFLICT OF INTEREST

Mark Haldane has no business interests in Wilmington. Neither he nor any of his relatives have ever worked for the Town of Wilmington. Mark Haldane CAN vote on police and fire contracts. Mark Haldane has read the Conflict of Interest Law and understands when to rescue himself.

The Selectman seeking re-election attacked Mark Haldane for voting for the Town Manager's contract in 1992. He failed to say that he, too, made the right decision by voting FOR the contract. IS THAT ETHICAL?

The Selectman seeking re-election attacked Mark Haldane's record of fiscal conservatism but he has proposed INCREASING FEES to Wilmington taxpayers. IS THAT HONESTY?

This week, the Selectman seeking re-election has attacked Selectman Bob Cain by stating that Cain was brain damaged and should check into the Lahey Clinic. IS THAT INTEGRITY?

If You Want a Positive Voice for Real Change
ONLY ONE STANDS OUT!

MARK HALDANE
SELECTMAN

Political Ad Signed: Committee to Elect Mark Haldane

IN THE YEAR OF THE NEGATIVE AD, MEET A POSITIVE VOICE:

DAN WANDELL

...A DIFFERENT KIND OF LEADER

This year, only one candidate for Selectman has talked positively about himself, about what he's done, and about what he'll do if elected. That candidate is Dan Wandell.

"I'm joining with the Wilmington citizens who signed this ad to help elect Dan Wandell, who has served this community with integrity and distinction. Dan will be an honest, effective Selectman, and his retirement status will make him a full-time office holder at Town Hall."

MAJESTY CRUISES TO BERMUDA FROM BOSTON 1995

When you sail with the M.V. Royal Majesty, how much you pay is entirely up to you. The earlier you book, the more you SAVE. As cruise fares begin to fill the ship, the rates increase. These rates are changed weekly and faxed to us. BOOK EARLY AND SAVE MORE. Wait, and you'll save less. Savings can be substantial! You can save up to 40 percent from the brochure rates. And, have the best selection of cabins to choose from.

Bermuda is a technicolor daydream of pastel cottages, pink beaches, blue waters and, of course, Bermuda's famous, vivid green golf courses. The Royal Majesty seems to lord over Town Square in historic, quaint St. George's Harbour. The only ship to stay three nights in this fairy tale colonial port of town crieres and recreated old traditions.

But, don't overlook the silent beauty of Bermuda's many caverns, the thrill of snorkeling its beautiful coral reefs, a gentlemanly game of cricket, the ancient and puzzling, human sized checkerboard at Spittal Pond, quaint churches, pubs, forts and craft shops.

If you have never been to Bermuda you are in for a truly memorable experience. Keep in mind that your SHIP IS YOUR HOTEL and all food is inclusive. So, give us a call at ALL AROUND TRAVEL 508-658-2313 or (800) 974-0106 and let us help you plan your DREAM VACATION.

Note: ALL AROUND TRAVEL specializes in PERSONAL, CARING ATTENTION to each of our travelers. We hope you will continue to enjoy our column and give us the chance to help you SAVE each time you travel with us.

Stone's in the Garden

It's Forsythia time again!

by Jackie Leszczak-Stone

Yellow...the first color of spring.

When I think spring, I think yellow. Early yellow crocus, yellow daffodils, the lime yellow tones of early leaves and of course forsythia. This hardy shrub is widely planted as a specimen, as a hedge and in mixed borders. It is the first really showy flowering shrub to bloom and will tolerate almost any type of soil, including clay, as well as partially shady conditions.

Although all varieties of this common plant have yellow flowers, there are many shades and forms to choose from. The most common and most spectacular is the Showy Boarder Forsythia (F.x intermedia "Spectabills"). This bright yellow plant grows to eight feet tall and is idea for use as a hedge. "Lynwood Gold" provides flowers in a more golden yellow shade and "Gold Leaf" has yellow flowers followed by yellowish foliage. The variety Forsythia mandschurica "Vermont Sun" is more upright and has light yellow flowers that bloom almost a week earlier than other varieties. Vermont Sun and the other early forsythias, like Northern Sun and New Hampshire Gold are among the hardiest, but some sources claim that they bloom less profusely.

There are also dwarf forsythias that can be used to cover slopes. The best variety for our area is Arnold Dwarf (about two to three feet high). It will provide spring yellow color on banks and in the front of taller plants in the shrub border.

Forsythia plants bloom on last year's wood, which means that older wood does not bloom. You will often see older hedges of forsythia that bloom very sparsely. These plants can be revived by aggressive pruning just after the flowers have passed. This is best accomplished in three steps. First remove any dead stems and side shoots. Next remove any spindly growth by cutting it back to a strong side shoot. Finally cut out about 20 to 25 percent of the old, thick, woody stems. Cut them out just above ground level. Rake out old leaves and debris from the base, add some general purpose fertilizer and lightly mulch the base of the plants. This process can be repeated annually on older forsythias. It forces the plants to put energy into producing new stem growth and you will be rewarded with dense golden displays every spring.

If yellow isn't your color there is a "White forsythia." Although it is only a relative, the Korean White Forsythia, (Abeliophyllum distichum) has a similar form and is similarly tolerant of most growing conditions. The white flowers are highly fragrant but it needs a slightly warmer (more protected) spot than its yellow cousins.

P.S. Despite the recent cold snap, my spinach and pea plants are up in the vegetable garden. Nothin' can stop us now (knock on old wood)!

CCD signup at St. Williams

Registration for the fall religious education classes at St. William's Church in Tewksbury has begun. Parents of students who will be entering grades one through 10 in September may register their children for CCD classes. Classes are held Monday through Thursday from 4 to 5 p.m. for grades one through four and from 7 to 8 p.m. for grades five through 10; and run from October until early May.

Parents are urged to register early because classes are limited to 25 students and the assignment of class day is given on a first come, first served basis. Registration forms were mailed home to students who are currently in the program. Parents must register their children every year. Ninth grade students from both public and private schools and any other high school student who wishes to receive the Sacrament of Confirmation should register for the classes which also will begin in October.

When registering a child for religious education parents should consider becoming a volunteer in the CCD Program. The success of the program at St. William's has been due to the people who volunteer to work. Volunteers are needed as teachers and assistants in every grade; and as babysitters in the afternoon, clerical workers, hall monitors and traffic controllers.

Registration forms are available at the CCD office which is located in the parish center. The office is opened Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. An early registration discount is being offered to families who register and pay before Apirl 30. For further information, call the CCD Office at 851-3471.

Tewksbury teachers join curriculum workshop

by Linda Jarossi

Approximately 30 Tewksbury teachers are taking part in Curriculum Framework study groups. The purpose of these groups is to discuss, review, and report on the ideas of the curriculum frameworks which were mandated by the legislature in the Educational Reform Act of 1993. According to Dr. Joseph Walsh, director of curriculum, "they represent the first time in Massachusetts that the state will have uniform expectations of what students should know and be able to do at different grade levels."

There will be curriculum frameworks developed for seven areas: mathematics science technology, English Language Arts, history/social studies, arts, world languages and health.

There are curriculum framework committees that will be writing each document. These committees are made up of teachers, administrators, college faculty, parents, cultural institution representatives, Department of Education (DOE) writers and facilitators, and students (Massachusetts is the first in the nation to include students on curriculum framework writing groups).

Walsh, along with teachers Robert McDougall and Lawrence Basteri (who are on the history/social studies and applied arts study groups respectively) attended a curriculum framework workshop sponsored by the DOE on January 27. In a report on the workshop Walsh said, "The frameworks are intended to be interactive documents." He explained that they "will not provide a scope and sequence for a curriculum, rather they will put forth the issues/questions students should grapple with at different grade levels." While they're not steadfast rules they will provide teachers with some direction, "they will be specific enough to give structure and guidance to teachers," Walsh said.

Tewksbury has formed three study groups to review the curriculum frameworks in three of the seven areas: history/social studies, applied arts, and health. Walsh said, "We're pleased that they're going to be reviewing the draft of the frameworks and making recommendations back to the state and town."

The curriculum frameworks will start to be used in September 1995. Walsh said he feels there will be a "profound impact on what actually goes on in the classroom." The goal is to create a climate in the classrooms where students think, create, and innovate," he concluded.

T. D. Waffle... where "Breakfast is served all day with More!" And wait 'til you see the breakfasts! Their extensive menu includes waffles, eggs (cooked any style), omelettes, morning sandwiches, pancakes & French toast, and side orders. Try their "Fresh Fruit Waffle" with banana, kiwi, cantaloupe & strawberries, for $4.75. If you're really hungry, there's the "Tewksbury Redmen" - 3 eggs with sirloin tips and waffle - for $6.50.

As for the "More"... T. D. Waffle also offers lunch and dinner. For lunch, choose from soup, salads, and sandwiches. Dinners will bring back memories of home cooking - ziti, lasagna, roast beef or turkey dinner, ham & scalloped potatoes, liver & onions, meat loaf, and include daily specials - corned beef and cabbage on Monday, barbecued sirloin tips, fresh fish or fish and chips on Friday.

It's been only two years since owners Tom Seto ("T") and Dave Donovan ("D") opened T. D. Waffle. It's a family restaurant with a casual and comfortable atmosphere, and courteous, friendly service. Orders are prepared before you on an open grill, and are made with only the freshest ingredients. Even the orange juice comes from a "fresh squeezed OJ" machine. This waffle house is now selling 400-500 waffles each day. In fact, business has been so good that they have plans to open a second restaurant in Burlington.

More veteran's identities sought

Herbert (Red) Jones stood with his friend (unknown at this writing) and someone took their picture. Red was wearing his Marine uniform the other fellow dressed as a sailor. That was 50 years ago. That picture is part of a collection assembled by George Spanos. Assembled as the men and women of Wilmington went off to war.

Last week that photo of Red was published in the Town Crier, his wife called to say "That's MY Husband!" John O'Connell wrote a note to identify Red, too. Nobody, however, could top John Ritchie.

Ritchie was at the Town Crier office Thursday morning going over all the pictures, naming man after man after woman. Ritchie graduated Wilmington High School in 1941. He grew up with all those people. There are over 500 photos. Most Ritchie knew immediately. A few he did not. There were three people in particular he could not identify: the three in last week's paper!

The Town Crier is offering a $10.00 gift certificate to Rocco's Restaurant to anyone who can identify the men in the photos on this page. (John Ritchie couldn't.)

Call 658-2346 or write to Town Crier, P.O. Box 939, Wilmington, MA 01887.

Letter to the editor

Dear Larz:

The Marine in the photo (from the George Spanos collection), published last week is Herb Jones of Wilmington.

I knew him when he hung around George's Store. As a matter of fact, I saw him within the last couple of months.

I don't have too much info on him, but I remember he wore a bad scar on his lower right leg.

That's all the help I can give you.

John "Okie" O'Connell

"It's a dirty job, but we're gonna do it" was the attitude of the Bear Scouts of Den 6, Pack 136 during a recent cleanup of the Shawsheen School grounds.

Joseph Caira, Michael Johnson, Kenny Luongo, Buck Collings, Adam McCauley and Dan Cwiekowski pitch in. Pride in School and Community was the name of the game for the Scouts in Den 6, Pack 136, Wilmington, shown here picking up trash which had accumulated around the Shawsheen School.

WHAT MAKES A GREAT LISTING PRESENTATION?

The listing presentation is the first step that most sellers take when they are looking for a real estate professional to market their home. They communicate what they expect from the Realtor that will list their home, and the agent explains their marketing strategy, including pricing recommendations, advertising, and any special programs they or their companies offer.

A good listing presentation takes careful planning. A written market analysis will help you get a clear idea of local market conditions. Many Realtors will include a written marketing plan, as well as suggestions on how to make sure that your home shows well and is accessible to agents. If you are talking to several companies, resist the temptation to go with the person who merely quotes you the highest price for your house. Look for an agent who is well prepared, professional, and has the best ideas. The most successful transactions involve careful collaboration between the sellers and the Realtor.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

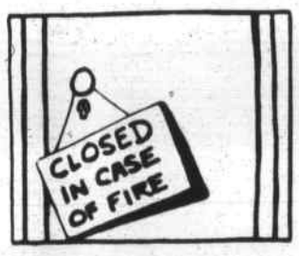

by Edward H. Wilkens

KEEP BEDROOM DOOR CLOSED

QUESTION: Fire-safety-wise, is it safer to sleep with your bedroom door open or closed?

ANSWER: According to experts who have seen thousands of insurance claims — hundreds of injuries and fatalities due to home fires were caused by leaving bedroom doors open at night. Heat rises, and during a fire, superheated air and combustion gases quickly flood the upper half of a house. These lethal gases pour through open bedroom doors and asphyxiate sleeping occupants.

If you want ventilation at night, go to sleep with your windows open but your bedroom door CLOSED. Give yourself a fighting chance.

KEEPING BEDROOM doors closed and windows open is the best way to combat death by fire.

Yard waste pickup on "trash day" through May 5

The Town of Wilmington will begin collecting leaves, pine needles and grass at the curb starting Tuesday, April 18 and continuing, on the same day as the homeowners' trash collection date, through Friday, May 5. Only leaves, pine needles and grass in biodegradable leaf bags or barrels will be collected. Material in plastic bags will not be collected.

Homeowners may also take leaves, pine needles and grass clippings to the recycling drop-off center on Old Main Street in south Wimington. Wilmington senior topics

We are in the process of distributing our new File of Life case to seniors. With the case, you will be given two Vial of Life forms to be completed, with information that will save your life if or when a serious illness or accident should leave you unable to respond to those who will have to transport you to the hospital or who will be in charge of your treatment when you arrive at the hospital.

You may have completed a Vial of Life from before, but this one will replace that one with updated information. When you complete the small form you will insert it into the red plastic case, with large white letters on it that say File of Life. Along with the form you should put your Medicare, supplement insurance card and your doctor's card. If you are on Medicaid that card should also be put into the case. When you arrive at a hospital all your medical information will be contained in this case. Keep the case at all times in your wallet. The larger form when completed will be returned to the office to be kept in our files used only in the case of a medical emergency while in the center and for some reason you did not have your File of Life case with you.

With the summer travel months approaching quickly, we are signing up seniors as fast as we can. All you have to do is come to the center and pick up the case and forms. They are free of charge. Call the center if you cannot come in. We will have one taken to your home.

April 14 is Good Friday, bingo will not be held and meals will not be served or delivered.

Our Easter social will be held in the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks Hall Monday, April 17. Seniors have received their table number when they signed up. You will not have to rush to get to the hall to find a seat. Dinner will not be served until 7 p.m. That will allow time enough to watch your favorite news program.

The Commissioners meeting will be held in the function room of the Senior Center next Tuesday, April 18 starting at 1:30 p.m. Try to attend the meetings, get your information first hand on every discussion that will effect you as a Wilmington senior.

Monday April 17, is a holiday; the center will be closed. Please make appointments for the minibus and respite care servicer accordingly.

With the schools closed for vacation starting Monday, April 17, meals will not be served; meals on wheels will be taken to the Center by Minuteman Homecare and delivered to the shutins by our drivers. Any shutin receiving meals can double up on any meal this week to cover Good Friday and the holiday. Call the center or tell the driver when they deliver your meals this week.

The nurse will be in the Center Thursday, April 20 at 1:30 p.m. She will be checking blood pressures an giving diabetes test. If you have not had a diabetes test for sometime, it would be wise to take one next Thursday. Remember, diabetes is a sneaky illness that can be active in our system unknown to us. If not detected early it could lead to a serious medical problem. Ann will give only a simple blood test that takes but a minute. If it shows a high level of sugar, she will, in most cases suggest you check with your doctor.

If she finds your sugar a little high, she will advise you to watch your diet and join an exercise program. That advice can be easily handled at the Senior Center. We have two excellent programs for you to join at no cost. Our exercise class is held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning from 10-11. The nutrition class is held on the second and fourth Tuesday of the month.

Happy Easter to all.

Baseball team looking to spark up last year's 2 -18 record

by James Pote

This year's WHS baseball team has already begun a very rocky road. Already several of the key players who were penciled into this year's lineup are either out because of grades or because of injuries. And the fact that they have seven starting sophomores and the lack of enthusiasm to the team will make it very difficult to improve on last year's 2-18 record. But, if the team can catch a few breaks, they definitely have the talent to improve on that record.

This past Saturday, the team carried over last year's miserable beginning when they faced Burlington in a non-league battle and lost 12-0 to a powerhouse caliber of a team. Burlington had seven seniors in their starting line-up while, Wilmington had seven sophomores.

Actually, Wilmington did alot of good things in the game, except for five errors, a few walks and a few hitsbatsmen. But, head coach Dick Scanlon saw some positives that he can carry over onto the league opener when they travel to Andover, Friday, April 21st at 2:00.

"I think we are a year away of actually competing. I thought we did some good things both offensively and defensively on Saturday, but, a few mistakes really hurt us," Scanlon said.

Before the year had even begun, Scanlon had penciled in what could have been a very promising pitching rotation. Senior Erik Froton would be the number one thrower with juniors Rob Parker and Ryan Rappolli as the number two and three starters. Senior Greg Peters, junior Jon Casey and sophomore Lee Trimarchi would be the back-ups in Scanlon's original plan. Now, due to ineligible players, injuries and a player quitting, the rotation has dwimbled down to just Peters, Rappolli and Trimarchi. Now, Scanlon is scratching his head wondering if he has enough pitching to go up against the likes of Andover, Central Catholic, Lowell and Chelmsford to name a few.

"We have our work cut out for us. We definitely have a loaded schedule especially since we play Burlington and Reading among our own opponents," Scanlon said.

"This team has a lot of ability but they just don't seem to have the leadership it needs. Injuries and the lack of pitching will hurt us and hopefully, we can overcome that."

Scanlon is hoping that he can go with a three man rotation in which all three will see action in each of the games.

"I'm hoping that the three guys can do that because if I have one go the whole seven innings and then I won't have him for the next four days. And I can't rely on having just two pitchers especially when we start playing Monday, Wednesday and Friday."

Peters has the most of the experience among the three. He started this past Saturday. The first inning he walked three batters while giving up a hit which brought in two runners. He pitched a scoreless second inning and then the third and fourth innings, errors hurt him in which he left trailing 6-0. Enter, Ryan Rappolli. Rappolli, who has a lot of potential, also walked a few batters and was hurt by the careless defense but his blow came when he gave up a grandslam to one of the best players in the state in Shawn McGowan. Enter Trimarchi, who finished the last two outs of the game.

"I thought all three looked pretty good. Peters hurt himself in the first inning with the walks but the errors killed him in the other innings. And I thought Rappolli and Trimarchi did okay, too," Scanlon said.

Past the pitching mound, the infield looks pretty impressive - especially the rightside. Lead-off hitter and shortstop Billy Harrison will try to overcome his impressive .370 average he hit last year. Freshman Sean Kerrigan controls the hot corner and he will most likely bat third.

The leftside has either Peters at second, a smooth fielder or sophomore speedster Eric Clancy when Peters is pitching with much improved Jim LeCasse at first. Last season the latter was known for his defense but this year. Scanlon says he has improved with his stick.

"Jimmy has been hitting the ball really well, and we need him to come through in the middle of the order."

The outfield crew took a step back when defensive phenomena Eric McKenna, broke his hand diving for a ball and he will be out another two or so weeks. His spot will probably go to either senior Derrick White or when he doesn't pitch Ryan Rappolli.

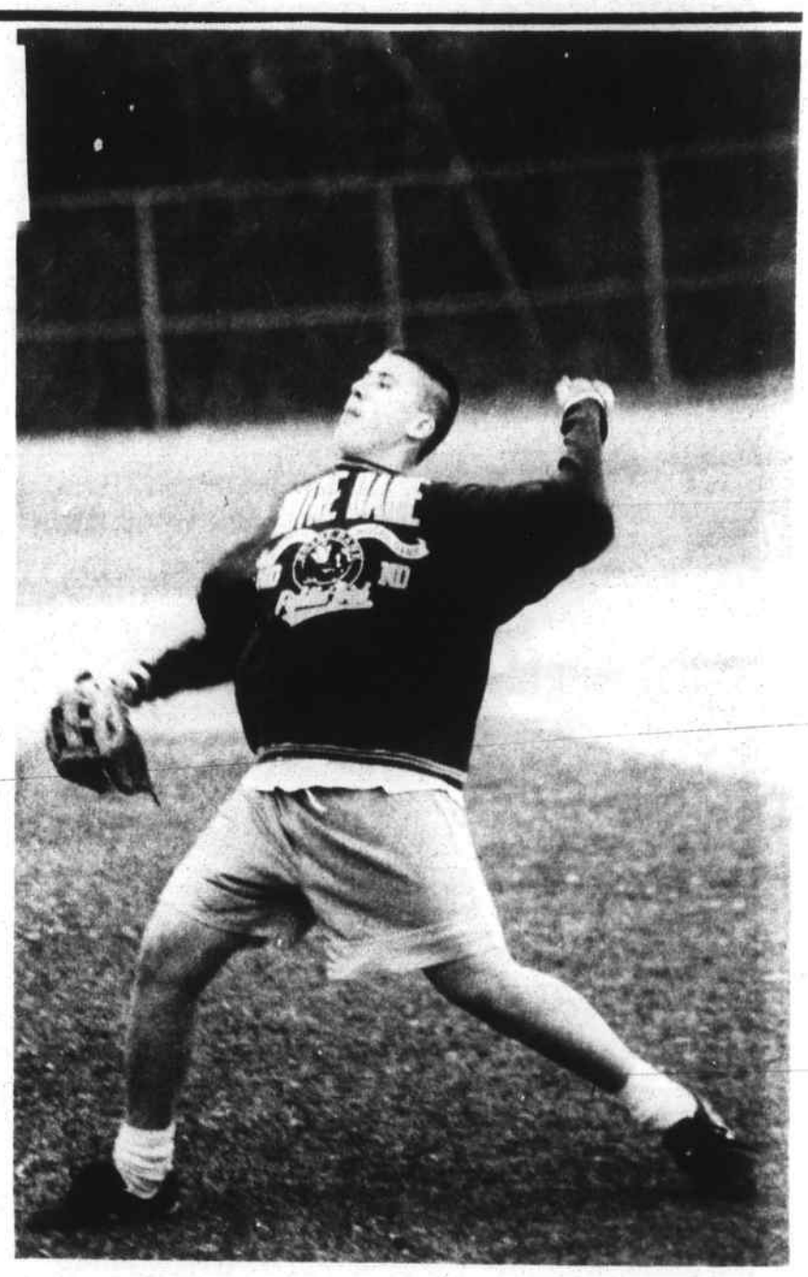

Leftfield will go to junior Phil Bates who will most likely bat second in the order with senior Paul Bruno taking up rightfield. Scanlon also said that Bruno has improved alot too with his bat.

Last on the field will be sophomore Richie Gillis. Last season Gillis came on really strong both offensively and defensively. This year in limited time, it looks as if he has taken another major step in improvement.

The designated hitter will go to clean-up batter, senior John Lynch. The Wildcats will really need him to come through to knock in he frontrunners in Harrison, Bates and Kerrigan.

With Froton and Casey out for a few more weeks and also sophomore power hitter Matt Haskamp hitting the disabled list with an elbow injury, it might be a tough ride as was last year at the start of the season.

But, last season the team did show tremendous improvement. Maybe this year they can continue to improve after each practice and most especially each game.

Andover shoots blanks at boys tennis team

by James Pote

Whenever a tennis team faces Andover it's like giving the enemy a gun and say 'hey, shoot me'. That's what the WHS boys tennis team felt like on Monday afternoon when they lost their season opener in a 5-0 sweep. But, head coach Mike Tammaro knows that he has a tough schedule and all he is looking for is improvement.

"We had a solid season last year. We lost some good players but we still have some left. It's a young and enthuastic team that are a couple of years away from being a real strong team," Tammaro said.

One of the problems this year is the lack of depth in the singles players. Last year, Steve Smith and Mark Trinchera were the first guys to go to and this year the load will be put on senior Ryan Swasey and Danny King, who both suffered losses in their first matches.

"It seems like Andover has won it the last 15 years. They are really strong as are Chelmsford and Lowell. We're hoping to beat some teams like Haverhill, Billerica, Tewksbury and Lawrence and hopefully we can come out with a decent record," Tammaro said.

The third singles player will be senior Pat Cahill, who is coming off of solid seasons in both soccer and basketball.

Last year, King and Cahill combined for a great tandem for the team's first doubles pairings. And this year the tandems are still being examined between junior Slava Radosavljevic, sophomores Tom Cassella, Mike Gargan, Keith McClaren, Marc Merriman and Tom Perrault.

"Nothing is certain right now. I'm still trying to iron things out," Tammaro said.

The team will have their second match-up and home opener against Lowell on Wednesday, April 12th. Thereafter, they will host Tewksbury, Haverhill and Lawrence - three teams in which they have a chance of coming out victorious.

Flashback to the eighties

by James Pote

Since this is the last year for Wilmington sports in the Merrimack Valley, I decided to go back through the sports history at WHS in the past 15 years to reminiscence some good old days.

I only picked out events that I thought were interesting to talk about. This week I chose one event form each year from 1980-1984. And the next couple of months you will see even more of these kinds of highlights. The reason why I chose the ones I did because it is nearly impossible to mentioned every three sport athlete, or every winning team or every game winning goal by Johnnie that has been recorded at WHS. If I try to do that people would always find a way to complain that I either forgot them or I forgot to mention their own kid. So I didn't want to deal with that - and I thought this way would be interesting enough and alot less time consuming.

1980 WHS Field Hockey

I picked this one because the 1980's was field hockey in Wilmington. Each team was a powerhouse. And each team had its share of great athletes who wore the blue and white.

The 1980 team however, lost in the Eastern Mass., North Sectional Championship game to Weston by a score of 2-0 in the final minutes. The team had heartstorming wins over Lincoln-Sudbury, Newburyport and Danvers to allow them into the final contest.

Moreover, this team had more weapons than the U.S. Army. They ended the season with a remarkable 15-1-1 record which was led by Olympian Megan Donnelly and Janelle Fitch offensively, while, Beth Gentile controlled the net very effectively.

Donnelly and Fitch led an offense which scored 50 goals in their 17 games. And in the game of field hockey, that is alot. Gentile, on the other hand, allowed just 18 goals throughout the entire season. And that of course, is also extremely impressive.

1981 WHS Girls Track

With the Wilmington - Tewksbury famous rival nearly coming to an end, I figured to pick out one of two key match-ups.

The first one I picked out was the 1981 girls spring track team who defeated Tewksbury to give them the MVC small school championship. And it was a rout. 79-39 to be exact.

Wilmington had a talented team under then head coach Frank Kelley. Whether it was Heidi Wiberg or Mary McNaughton or Margaret Mooney or Sue Lawler or Karen Rowe or Deidre O'Reilly or Lisa Lombard or Stephanie Briggs or even Helen Desforge, Wilmington was stacked in every event.

Both Mooney and Lawler broke school records in that victory. The former jumped 16'11.5" in the longjump which broke the previous record which was 10'.5". The latter broke a school record in the 440 when she finished with a time of 61.0 seconds which was two seconds better by the previous holder.

The Cats had a slew of first place finishers. Mooney in the hurdles and the 440 relay team; McNaughton in the two mile; Lawler in the 440; Rowe in the 220; Desforge in the mile and O'Reilly in the javelin to name a few of them.

1982 Wilm. Tennis Club

This event was different but it caught my eye. It was not a high school team - it was just for fun.

President and Vice President at that time, Kevin Field and Barry Cahill, respectively, had a real good thing going at the time, with alot of fun which included many good matches.

Let's go down the list. Top seeds Kevin Field and Bob Perry who were upset by Sean O'Breirne and Tim Curran, respectively in the men's division. In the women's division, Lois Bova defeated Julie Curran in the early rounds three very intriguing sets.

Other notable matches and quibbles to tell you about is Dave Webster, Sr., who beat both Dave Kiatowski and Patrick Hoffman and then lost the following day to Rich Bova in the men's side. Joanie O'Breirne was honored for the women's side when she defeated such talented players as Judy Page and Violet O'Malley. Gayle Fald and Jerry Bishop also were honored for their non-stop hustle kind of play.

Switch back to the boys and Dave Kwiatowski and Lenny Licari played their hearts out as Licari won by scores of 6-4, 7-6.

The champions for the men's side was Bobby Williams who defeated Rich Bova in the championship by scores of 6-4, 7-6. And for the women, the champion was Susan Gillespie who beat Lois Bova 6-3, 6-4.

1983 Turkey Game

In their first time since 1979, the Wildcats beat Tewksbury by a score of 35-21. And that was after the Redmen piled up a 13-0 lead after the first quarter.

After Tewksbury scored those first two touchdowns, Dean Anthanasia scored two touchdowns on identical plays from the one yard liner where he scooted in from the quarterback's slot to tie the game up going into halftime.

Wilmington came right back with the same momentum from their lockerroom when Athanasia hit Brian Moon on a 14 yard pass for a 21-13 lead. The quarterback then scored his third touchdown of the game on a four yard run to boost the lead up to 14.

In the final quarter, both teams exchanged touchdowns as Wilmington held onto the lead for the victory. Paul Caizzi scored on a one yard plunge play to give Wilmington a big 35-14 lead at the time. Tewksbury got one touchdown back but that was not enough as Wilmington prevailed under then head coach Ed Harrison for a sweet win.

1984 WHS Ice Hockey

I picked this one out for many reasons: 1). I remember watching the game at a young nine years of age at Boston Garden as if it was yesterday and 2). any team that makes a trip to the Garden deserves to be mentioned and finally 3). because a few weeks ago I mentioned this team but said the year was 1984 and thanks to player Jay Barrett for pointing that out to me.

Back to the team's success, they made their big entry to the famous building when they took on highly touted Christopher Columbus. CC knocked them out from any chances of a state championship when they defeated them by a score of 8-3.

To get to the championship game, the team behind then head coach Bill Cullen, beat Concord Carlisle, Hanover, and Franklin. A year before, Franklin had beaten Wilmington in the semi-final - how sweet revenge can be?

The team had two talented netminders in Dan Gunn and Peter Wolfe. The former had the victories in the games against Concord-Carlisle and Franklin, while, the latter had the win against Hanover. Both of them however, played in the championship game.

Offensively the team was led by Dennis Moran (22-29-51 - before the final game) as well as Dean Athanasia (16-19-35) and Brian Tully (15-14-29). The rugged crew of defensemen Kevin Cullivan (2-15-17), Dante De- Marco, David Fuller and David Richards was also another reason why the team finished at 17-4-2.

Other forwards who contributed were Jay Barrett himself with Bill Woods and Brian and Scott Robbins.

Many people will not forget WHS former quarterback Dean Anthanasia when he scored three touchdowns in a Wilmington Thanksgiving victory from 1983.

This was the opening face-off the WHS hockey team when they made the trip to the Boston Garden eleven years ago.

Crowley qualifies for championship

Lisa Crowley will be participating in the regional gymnastics championships in Amherst, Mass., on April 22.

Gymnast Lisa Crowley, a sophomore at Wilmington High School, has qualified to compete in the USAG Level 10 Regional Championships to be held at UMass, Amherst April 22.

Lisa competes in the USA Gymnastics, an organization which governs the sport of gymnastics in the USA. The USAG represents private club gymnasts between all levels 1-10 to the Elite-Olympic level.

Level ten is the highest optional level before them Elite program. The rules and requirements demand more difficulty and the number of gymnasts who qualify and take this challenge are smaller than any other of the preceeding levels. Level ten gymnasts compete at local meets to sectionals. Sectional meets are where they move onto State Championships. Level ten is the only level to qualify to Nationals other than Elite.

Lisa ended last season as a Region VI teammember competing at Level ten Nationals for her second time. Competing as the past two time defending all around state champion, Lisa was among approximately ten gymnasts in her age group (15-16).

Lisa medaled on each event, unfortunately, having balance beam her last event in this meet, she ended a bit shaky. She still received a 9:05 on balance beam and respectfully placed third all around by only two tenths from first place. Being the competitor she has developed into with her experience at the top, she was able to attain one of her highest all around scores of an outstanding 35.70.

Lisa now moves onto Regionals with the gymnasts scoring a 34 and above from all the New England states and New York. At Regionals, the top 14 in Lisa's age group will make up the A and B teams for Region VI who will compete at Nationals in Nebraska on May 20.

Lisa continues to have the opportunity to travel and compete thorughout the U.S. in several club Invitationals. Her most recent was the Gymnastics - Carolina Invite in N.C. where she placed fourth in the open division.

Lisa has maintained high honors with a demanding schedule between her academics and training five days a week, four hours a day. Lisa is a team member of Northeast Gymnastics Center in Wilmington, where she trains with the most recent Level eight and Level nine State Champions.

Girls under-12 soccer teams loses close one

Despite a tremendous team effort, the Wilmington's Girls Under 12 B team lost to Burlington 3-1 on April 8.

In the first half, Burlington challenged Wilmington with a 2-0 lead. Goalie Kelly Leet was great, aided by defender Christie Johnson's excellent play.

Second half goalkeeper Erin Porterfield was super, making some dramatic saves. Though Burlington scored again, Tara Scola booted a fast one for Wilmington to cut the lead in half.

The action was heated with terrific plays by forward Sheri Thresher and midfielder Erin McDonough, and solid support from the whole team.

Boys U-10 A Team

The Wilmington Boys Under ten A Team opened the spring season with a 3-1 win against Stoneham. Mike Rideout and Pat O'Shea set up a relentless offensive attack which culminated in goals by Andrew Holland, Stephen O'Dea and Keith Frongillo.

On the defensive side of the game, Steven Gravallese covered the zone from net to midfield, breaking up opposing efforts. Danny O'Connell's brilliant positioning and powerful boot wrapped up the game for Wilmington.

In their second game, the B-U-ten A team triumphed over Billerica with a 4-2 score. Keith Frongillo blasted home two powerful goals while Andrew Holland slid one into the net feet first! Alfredo Badalto pressured the opponents with multiple shots. Derek Courtois popped in an amazing rebound off the goal post.

Dennis DiCenso and Brian Schell dominated the defensive end with quick moves and impressive anticipation. Once again, Danny O'Connell's superb defensive play muted the opponents' attempts.

Murray, Cassanello to lead girls tennis team

by James Pote

The last couple of seasons for the WHS girls tennis teams have not been all of that exciting and ones that really want to be remembered. But, this year, maybe the team can reach its fullest potentials.

"This team is stronger than last year's team was," said second year head coach Kathy Tarmey.

"We have some girls coming back with some potential and hopefully we can win some matches. The start of the year will be tough, but as long as the girls improve in the second half than I will be happy," Tarmey said.

This year's team has five seniors with all having experience. Alyson Murray has really come on strong as she is penciled in as the number one singles player. Jamie Cassanello will be the number two followed by freshman Sara McManahan as the number three.

"Alyson has really worked hard. She has practiced all winter and she really has improved a lot," Tarmey said.

The doubles pairings will be seniors Melanie Johnson and Amy Herman as the first pair with Kerri Oakleaf and Kelly Cushing making up the second pair.

"Last year we played alot better in the secnd half of the season and we are hoping to do the same this year. Our weakness is not enough experience while our strength is the experience of the five seniors," Tarmey said.

The girls opened up their season this past Monday where Andover blanked them 5-0. They will face Lowell on the 12th in their home opener and then travel to Tewksbury on the 21st.

Covino helping others by running Marathon

Bill Covino, 26 of Wilmington, has set a goal to raise at least $1000 for the National Spinal Cord Injury Association (NSCIA), a Cambridge based non-profit organization that helps people with spinal cord injuries achieve independence and personal fulfillment in this year's Boston Marathon.

"I started running four years ago," explains Covino. "My goal then was just to run five miles. But then I found out how much I enjoy it."

Covino is one of 20 runners who are able to officially race without a qualifying time through a special arrangement between NSCIA and the Boston Athletic Association. But for him, the arrangement provides more than the opportunity to officially race in the nation's oldest marathon.

"I knew of people from my hometown and spinal cord injuries and what they'd gone through," Covino continues, "but I didn't think much about it because it didn't affect me personally. Now I have a purpose - I can run for someone, so that other people won't have to go through what they had to."

Spinal cord injuries, which result in paralysis of certain parts of the body and corresponding loss of sensation, affect at least 7,800 people in the United States each year - people like Teresa.

Teresa was 22 when a car accident paralyzed her from the waist down. She called the NSCIA hotline desperate for help. For a year Teresa had to bump herself down the stairs on the seat, pulling her chair behind her. NSCIA staff connected her with vocational rehabilitation services and with a state agency to buy her a porch lift. Working together with NSCIA, Teresa can get out of her house on her own and is now attending college. Teresa now shows others that having a spinal cord injury does not mean your life is over.

The funds raised by Covino and other runners in the Boston Marathon will help NSCIA to expand its national hotline services, which currently provide 1,200 people a month with much needed information and referrals.

Funds will enable NSCIA to add another phone line and to hire additional information specialist to help people with spinal cord injuries, especially ones who are newly injured, as well as those caring for them.

To sponsor Covino and help NSCIA in its outreach efforts, call him at (508) 657-6068.

Brian Binkoski has been chosen to play on the junior olympic Mariners baseball team. Here, Brian poses with his major league baseball coach Brian Kane, who Binkoski's mother said 'has been a major influence of Brian's baseball success and is someone who should get recognized for all of the work he has done for little league over the years' at one of the major league all-star games in Woburn held this past summer. (Photo by James Pote).

Binkoski named to Junior olympic team

Brian Binkoski, son of Tom and Susan Binkoski of Ballardvale Street, Wilmington, has been selected to the 1995 13-year-old Division of the New England Mariners AAU Junior Olympic Baseball Team.

The team will compete locally in April and May while play regional qualifying tournaments in May and June. Hopefully the team will play for the gold medal in the National Championships July 28 through August 6.

Brian, a honor student at the North Intermediate School, has played in the Wilmington Little League for five years and in the Wilmington Summer Baseball Program for the last three years playing pitcher, shortstop and outfield.

Any interested sponsors who would be interested in helping out Brian can contact him at 508-658-9604.

Mite C's eliminated in playoffs after strong run

Cape Ann 2 Wilmington 1

The Wilmington Mite C Youth Hockey team took their act to the Valley League playoffs last weekend where they were seeded to face first place powerhouse Cape Ann.

Cape Ann has dominated this division since the first puck was dropped way back in September. So much for parity! The Wildcats were 0-4-1 against this team for the year, with the tie occurring in December.

A packed house was on hand for this thriller as many of the Wilmington faithful showed up once again to cheer on the C's including Colleen McMahon, minus her sidekick Lindsey McKenna.

The Cats came out rockin' and rollin' in the first period employing solid forechecking and steady defense. The Wildcat strategy was to swarm the Cape Ann defense in their own end to prevent them from breaking the puck out to the forwards that Cape Ann historically floats near center ice.

Wildcat wingers Jay Surianello, Warren Fitzpatrick, Scott Sferrazza, Mike Welch, Donny Heenan, and Jamie Ripopelle were like a pack of mad dogs as they tried to separate the Cape Ann defensemen from the puck.

Centers Jaclyn Rideout and Eric Raposo were poised to enter the fray created by the wingers and came out with the pick, which they did no several occasions. As a result, Wilmington had a few scoring opportunities.

Cape Ann had some chances of its own as they at times dodged the forechecking attack and came down on the Cat defense corps. But Jennifer Corcoran, Michael McMahon, Marshall Nevins and Stephen Peterson were waiting for them and maore times than not, turned back the Cape Ann forwards. And when all else failed, Mighty Matt David, a fixture in the crease all season for the Cats, was only too happy to snuff out any Cape scoring chance.

The first period ended in a scoreless tie and Cape Ann knew they were in a game.

Up and down action was the highlight of the second period with each squad creating scoring bids. The Cate forecheck remained intact, but the Cats were also impressively breaking out of their own end.

At one point, the action got hot in front of Matt David as he lost his stick in a melee in his crease. Play continued as the Cape assaulted the stickless goaltender with shots. A heads up Donny Heenan grabbed Matt's stick and returned it to him thereby allowing the Cats to survive the onslaught.

Midway through the period, Surianello centered a pass from behind the net which just eluded Mike Welch out front who had an open net. The Cape dodged a bullet! Moments later Cape Ann scored as they put in their own rebound after the initial stop by David. When the horn sounded to end the second frame, the score was 1-0 Cape Ann.

The third period was much like the second, up and down action punctuated with sterling scoring chances. The Cape went up 2-0 on a broken play along the Wildcat boards in their end. A clearing pass was broken up and the Cape Ann defensemen threw the puck into a forward in front of the net who in turn fired a high, hard wrist shot on the glove side of David.

Matt, realistically did no thave a chance on the play, but miraculously he got a piece of it with his glove. Unfortunately though it trickled out of his glove and into the net. The Cats pulled David with just under two minutes remaining in favor of an additional skater. Wilmington skaters were everywhere the puck was and hemmed Cape Ann in their end for most of the time. Eric Raposo scored on a breakaway with 17 seconds left as he put a nice kmove on the goalie. The Cape Ann throng was silent.

The ensuing center ice faceoff was won cleanly by Rideout and Surianello picked up the puck and began steaming toward the Cape Ann end in what could have been a good break for the Cats but the play was whistled dead for an offsides. Wilmington won the next face off and moved it into Cape territory but the game and the season had run out of time for Wilmington.

The Cs played perhaps their best game of the season this day and represented Wilmington admirably today and all season. These kids came to play ever week and just would never give up anytime regardless of the situation. They were in every game, they never lost a game by more than three goals, and three goal margins only happened twice.

But what is most important is that they were a team in every sense of the word, on and off the ice. This team had wonderful attitudes all season long and they were very determined, overachieving, hard working kids who were a pleasure to be associated with. And if a coach could select a team based on parents, this is the team that would be selected, much like the players, they also were a team and certainly made coaching this team a pleasure. Thank you.

In closing, read the names of the players in this article and look for the names in these sports pages in the coming years, because I'll tell 'ya folks, these kids are going places!

Mite B's tie

The Wilmington Mite B Youth Hockey team ended the regular season with an exciting come from behind 2-2 tie that enabled the Wildcats to capture the last playoff spot in the Valley league Maroon Division by one point over Triton.

The Mite Bs started in January with a 1-6 record and rebounded with a 7-5-1 record over the last three months. Four of the losses wete by one goal.

Congratulations to the players on the Mite B team for making the playoffs - Timmy Aldrich, Jonathan Berkeley, Scott Rivers, Kevin Velardo, Ray Bennett, Bryant Buck, Richgie Buckley, Eddie Lopez, Timmy Madden, Dean Smith, Zack Wilkins, Joey Pino and Jimmy Fitzpatrick.

The last regular season game started slowly for the Wildcats, and they could not muster much of an attack. The game stayed scoreless with Jonathan Berkeley stoppinng all of Triton's shots. Triton made the escore 1-0 late in the first period on a high rising shot that found the top corner.

In the second period, the Wildcats picked up the pace but still could not score. With 13 seconds left in the second period, Triton increased its lead to two goals and the season appeared over for the Wildcats.

Early in the third period, Dean Smith fired a wrist shot that found the top corner that sparked the team, and they knew they were back in the game.

The game clock was winding down to six minutes left to play when Triton found an open man in front of the net. Jonathan Berkeley stood his ground in goal, and as the Triton player shot the puck toward the open side, Berkeley grabbed the puck with his glove for a great save.

Wilmington responded to this save by carrying the play into Triton's end and scoring, when Timmy Aldrich assisted Zack Wilkins for the tying goal with five minutes left. Kevin Velardo, Scott Rivers, Timmy Madden and Eddie Lopez continued their fine play on defense, along with the excellent goaltending of Jonathan Berkeley in preserving the 2-2 tie and the final playoff spot.

Squirt A's clinch first place title

Squirt A's clinch first

The Wilmington Squirt A Wildcats split their last two games of the regular season and in the process clinched the regular season title of the Squirt White Division of the Valley Youth Hockey League.

The Wildcats' record of 14 wins, three losses and four ties for 32 points edged out the N.H. Seacoast Spartans with 30 points for the first place ranking.

The Cats' achievement is noteworthy as the White Division is the top ranked level of the Valley league's 12 Squirt Divisions and effectively acknowledges Wilmington as the top finisher out of a total of 76 teams in the Squirt age bracket (10 and 11). Congratulations and thanks to all the players and coaches for a job well done and good luck as they head into the playoffs.

Wilmington 3 Methuen 1

Wilmington's clinching victory was a three to one win over the Methuen Rangers which saw the Wildcats' special teams dominate play as they were involved in two of the three goals.

After a scoreless first period the Wildcats erupted for three goals in the second. Brian Velardo struck first for Wilmington with a shorthanded goal.

With Ryan Layton touring the "sin bin" for interference, Velardo, linemate Danny Liberty and defensemen Greg Buck and Brian Aldrich ferociously forehead the Rangers into their own zone. When Methuen tried to break out, Velardo intercepted a pass just inside the Ranger Blueline and put the puck into the cage before the Rangers could react.

Wilmington scored twice more in the final two minutes of the period. Casey Duggan made it 2-0 with a power play goal assisted by winger Ryan Higgins and defenseman Brian Corcoran. With crisp passing the puck moved from Corcoran to Higgins to Duggan and into the net leaving Methuen a step behind.

The pair of Higgins and Duggan struck again just 29 seconds later. This time Duggan fed a breaking Higgins who in his patented fashion waved his way through the Methuen defense for his 13th goal for the regular season.

Methuen finally lit the goal lamp with only four seconds remaining to make the final 3-1. Nonetheless, goaltender Justin Brady had the Wildcat D for Corcoran, Aldrich, Buck, Brian Martiniello, Matt Porter and Joe Luciano, continued to impress. Together they had come within four seconds of their third consecutive shutout which had extended their scoreless streak to over 110 minutes of hockey before the Ranger tally. Brady has continued to improve all year long and the defense has been rock solid in front of him.

The game also featured the fourth matchup of the Corcoran cousins with Greg Corcoran, playing forward for Methuen lining up opposite cousin Brian, a Wildcat defenseman, all game. This match again went to Brian as he held Greg and Methuen scoreless during his playing time while adding an assist of his own for Wilmington.

Pee Wee C's take Andover in stride

The PeeWee C Youth Hockey team played the second place Andover team on home ice and pulled out another big win by a score of 4-3.

Wilmington came out charging and dominated the first period. Dan Fonzi started the scoring when he backhanded the puck off the goal post and into the net for the first goal. He was assisted by Chuck Osgood and Joe O'Connell.

Shortly thereafter the offense line of Carlo Giangregorio, David Trueira and Jason Loring set up a nice pasing play to Loring who stood ready at the corner to tip in Wilmington's second goal. Andover finished out the period by sliding a goal in the corner as both teams tried to dig at the puck.

Both teams picked up a pair of goals in the second period. David Trueira netted home both of Wilmington's goals. The first one was on a rebound shot of Dan Fonzi's slapshot. Trueira's second goal came after he raced down the ice unassisted on a breakaway. Both of Andover's second period goals were scored on breakaways.

Going into the third period, Wilmington was ahead with a score of 4-3. The defense line Brian Considine, Derek Clayton, Brendan Binkoski put the pressure on and held Andover back.

The big play of the game came with two minutes left on the clock. One of the Wilmington skaters fell on the puck as it was rolling into the crease and this rendered Andover one more chance to tie up the game with a penalty shot.

Wilmington's goalie Chris Rose, put his concentration skills into full gear as he moved out of the net to cut down the angle. As he came face to face with Andover's best shooter, Rose came up with the big save to preserve the win. Wimington's Head Coach, Bill Loring, let out a sign of relief and teammates and fans cheered.

Bantams makes it to the finals after romp over Beverly

The Wilmington Bantam Youth Hockey team made it to the finals in their respective division when they pounced all over Beverly by a whopping 7-2 score.

The team which is sponspored by Michael's Place in Wilmington, has found their winning streak in which they have won ten straight games in a row. Before the winning streak the team was in last place. With this win, they will play Saturday at Ristuccia Exposition Center to try to walk away as champions. If they lose, they go home.

In the game against Beverly, the Bantams who are coached by Paul Giordano, Paul Reynolds and Jay O'Connell were completely all over Beverly both in the other's team end and also in the checking game.

The Wildcats jumped out to a 2-1 lead in the first period when John Delaney scored on a set-up by Justin Vallas and Mike Berian. The second goal was scored by Mike Garbati with an assist going to Mike Meuse.

The same predicament happen in the second period when Wilmington went ahead to 4-1 and the end of that buzzer. Scoring for the Cats were Meuse from Berian and Delaney. The fourth goal of the game for the hometowners was from Marc Gaglione with assists going to Marc DiGiovanni and Delaney.

In the third period, Wilmington bounced Beverly around in many different directions with many deceiving hits. Scoring in the final period were Vallas, Jonathan Hurst and Kevin Carroll.

Going fly fishing - match the hatch

by Bill Conlon

Trout are finicky eaters. Unlike bass, which will gulp down nearly anything that looks like food, trout are single-minded about chow.

Of course, most trout came from a hatchery, where they ate nothing but ... um ... Purina Trout Chow, or something like it. (I hear tell that throwing a handful of sand into the water, to simulate the sound of food pellets being sprinkled at the fish factory, may attract hatchery trout. Sounds reasonable, doesn't it?)

Once the trout are acclimated to their new home (if they survive that long) they develop the eating habits of natives. Or close enough.

If today they're eating little blue bugs with orange spots, then they'll eat NOTHING but little blue bugs with orange spots. Period. If they switch to green bugs with red and black wings tomorrow, those blue bugs with orange spots are ignored like a red traffic light in Boston.

So, give them what they want or go fishless. Simple as that. Which brings us to one of the finer points in the art of fly fishing: "Matching the Hatch."

When aquatic insects hatch, they do so by the millions. On any given day the stream may be covered with bugs, such as mayflies or stoneflies or caddis flies, with the trout gulping them by the handful. The bugs rise to the surface en masse, squirm out of their larval cases, and take wing in one of nature's loveliest spectacles, while the hungry trout are underneath sucking them down like cocktail peanuts. It's all part of the tapestry, so just accept it.

Our dutiful fly angler admires the hatch for a few minutes, looks into his rusty box of trout flies, and sure enough, he doesn't have a blessed thing that even remotely resembles an emerging adult mayfly. Great. Now what to do? If the trout want emerging mayflies, then all they'll eat is emerging mayflies. Match it or scratch it, pal.

You could carry a "Noah's Ark" sized trout fly collection, with two of every bug in the known world, but that's rather awkward to carry, especially since you'll be wading in moving water.

You could just give up and grab a beer at the local pub, but that's not as much fun as fishing a hatch. Does the local general store carry flies to match the local hatches? Many do! It's definitely worth asking!

Instead, the most devoted of the fly-fishing fraternity bring a small package of fly-tying equipment to the riverside, in one of their countless vest pockets. The streamside kit is a smaller version of their all-out fly-tying gear, with a tiny vise and only a handful of feathers, threads and suchlike, unlike the at-home fly kit, which has more feathers than a Vegas showgirl and more threads than an artistic spider.

If there's a hatch underway, our diligent angler will catch and study an adult specimen, then sit beside the brook to try and duplicate the bug du jour -- "match the hatch" -- with hook and feather. Fly tying is fairly easy, with practice, and it can be done in the field. Matching the hatch at the streamside is the acme of trout fishing with a fly rod. And if it works, if the simulacrum does the trick and fools trout, there are few greater satisfactions in life.

Whenever I see a gent in a tweed coat, sitting beside the brook with a dead bug on his knee and a fly-tying vise on his lap, humming to himself as he whips up a new trout fly, I try to give him a wide berth.

He's on a mission, and it's not for me to interrupt.

Tewksbury Rod & Gun will hold their monthly Firearms Personal Safety course, Saturday and Sunday at their Chandler Street HQ on the last weekend of the month. Entry fee is $100 each and includes both class work and live firing. Call ahead to reserve a space, at 851-6286.

The Massachusetts Junior Conservation Camp is taking reservations, and now is the time. The two-week camp costs $400 per, all expenses included, for the June 27 - July 7 camp. Call (508) 792-7270 to get an application package.

Artists take note. Entries are now being taken for the Massachusetts 1996 archery - primitive weapons stamp design, with a deadline of May 31. Call the above number to get the contest rules, or to set a date to review earlier stamp designs.

On April 2, my ladyfriend and I returned from a 9-day whirlwind visit to Colorado and Utah, ending with my brother Kevin's wedding on April 1. What a trip! We had a wonderful (if hectic) time, and now Lyn knows why I get that faraway, misty look when I say "mountains." She has seen the Rockies, and now she knows what "awesome" means.

Celtics Community Relations board member Don Welford says...

"It's always important to give back"

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

When Reading's Don Welford received M. L. Carr's invitation to join the newly formed Boston Celtics Community Relations Advisory Board, he was as surprised as anyone else.

It was the first he'd heard of this particular 'green team' game plan, the offshoot of a public relations effort "to better serve local charities and other programs" through the teamwork of 14 of Greater Boston's "most influential and community-minded people."

Civic-minded, the Celtics wanted.

Civic-minded, they got.

Welford is responsible for much more than the greening of Reading, where he's lived for 22 years. And that sense of responsibility netted him the nomination to the Celtics board. You name it: he's taught it, coached it or improved upon it.

"Wow!" he says. "I've had more jobs than any 10 people combined."

He came to Reading in 1970 from Boston State College to teach at the Woburn St. School and worked at the Pearl St. elementary and Coolidge middle schools before opening up his own business in 1988. He's been an elementary and middle school classroom teacher, reading and computer specialist, assistant principal, Title I and adult education director, and member of Reading's Killam School Council.

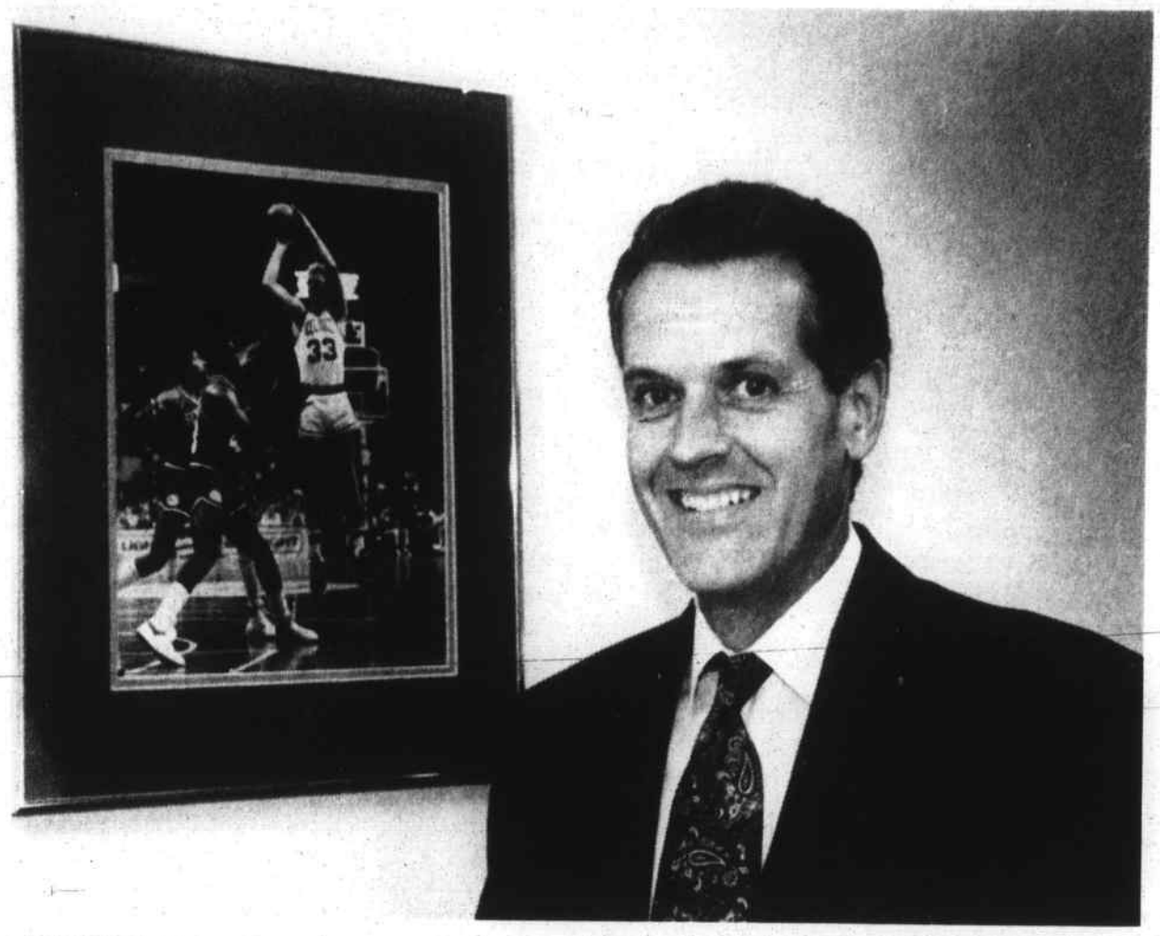

Welford left teaching to become the vice president of sales for RTS Enterprises in Reading, a small company which provides promotional and specialty advertising to corporations, colleges, schools, and charitable organizations. RTS clients include Suffolk Downs, the Boston Celtics, Most Industries, Holy Cross, Rivier College, Salem State College, and Sylvania.

The best thing about this job, he says, is "being my own boss!" The worst thing? "Being my own boss!"

He may have left teaching but he hasn't stopped teaching. He coaches the Reading United U-10 Boys Summer Soccer Team. Since 1983, he's been the Reading High freshman boys soccer coach. And through the Reading Rotary Club, he's managed to involve the entire community in his ambitious efforts.

Searching for candidates "who were energetic, had given a lot to their community, and had a good business head on their shoulders," Celtics Executive Vice President and Manager of Basketball Operations M.L. Carr asked members of the Celtics organi-

Welford to S-4

BOSTON CELTIC M. L. CARR recently made Reading's Don Welford an offer he couldn't refuse, and Welford (pictured above) found himself on the newly created Celtics Community Relations Advisory Board. "When I got M. L.'s letter asking if I would accept the position, it was the first I'd heard about it," says Welford, a Wakefield native and Reding resident of 22 years. It's not as if the invitation arrived out of the ... green: the Celtics were looking for civic-minded, commmunity-oriented, 'team' players with class - and Welford fits the bill ... to a tee. Pet photo contest deadline Saturday

The final deadline for entering the Middlesex East Regional Supplement photo contest "Pets and Their People" is this Saturday, April 15th. The response has been terrific and the quality excellent as you can see by the photo below of Julie Wetherbee with her dog Apache has been terrific. The photo was taken by Julie Wetherbee. For complete details on the contest, please turn to page S-6.

Tommy Ciovacco drove his lovely wife Rita to the post office to mail a package to their daughter Carol Morris. Rita came out sooner than expected, got in the car and waited for Tommy to start the car. "Well!" she exclaimed when Tommy didn't make a move, "What are you waiting for Christmas?" "Look," Tommy said, "there's five more minutes left on the parking meter. I'm "NOT" leaving until I get my money's worth!"

Lezar Ferragamo is a firm believer in "Positive Thinking." He has the following saying taped to his refrigerator door, "As you wander down the road of life, what ever be your goal-keep you eyes upon the donut and "NOT" upon the hole."

My late father bought this house near the beach that must have been built and owned by "Bootleggers." The, "Foundation" is "Stoned" the "Walls" are " plastered" and the "Windows," have a "Glazed" look. I'm happy to say however, that the family has enjoyed living in this house.

We have always been in, "High Spirits", especially at night when the "Moon-shines" over our heads.

I remember my father going to the bank to try to borrow money to repair the roof. He asked a gentleman sitting at a desk, "Sir, I would like to speak to the "Loan Arranger." The man smiled and said, "I'm sorry, the Loan Arranger is out to lunch but, you may speak to "Tonto" Kimasavi!"

My late mother was born in Ireland. She loved to tell this story "Mary O'Hara sent a letter to her husband Pat who was in prison that said, It's almost spring and there's no one to dig the field and plant the potatoes!" She received an answer saying, "Don't dig anywhere in the garden, that's where I hid the guns and ammo."

The next morning, Pat got a letter from Mary saying, "a company of soldiers dug everything up looking for something, What will I do now?" The quick

Backstage Rehersal Studios really swing

Sal's Swing Senter in Billerica has become a versatile complex of businesses including the Swing Senter and Backstage Rehearsal Studios, a center where local bands gather to practice their music.

Tory Turco introduced the studio in 1991 at the Billerica location and it has been so successful that he opened a second studio in Lowell in 1993

THE BILLERICA COMPLEX of Sal 's Swing Senter and Backstage Rehearsal Center is shown above. Owned by Sal Turco and his son, Tory, the center includes the swing center and a very popular studio space where up to 30 bands may conduct their practices.

Tory is the son of Sal Turco, the founder of Sal's Swing Senter, a long established business on Route 3A in Billerica. Sal is still very involved in the business and Tory has also very active in management of the facility.

The swing center is adjacent to the studio complex that encompasses 30 rooms, that are soundproofed and weatherized for all seasons.

"I envisioned that someday I would create a complex where I could fill the needs of hopeful musicians" said Tory Turco. " A safe place where bands having the same goals could get together to share ideas without bothering anyone."

Following the success in Billerica the Llowell studio was opened in the Historic Boott Mills in the heart of downtown Lowell.

The Lowell complex is also 30 rooms including a card access system and surveillance center. It also features a game room with refreshment area and a professional in house recording studio.

The full occupancy of the first floor has brought about expansion to the second floor and work is presently being done to ready that area for occupancy.

The Billerica complex is located north off exit 33 off route 128 in Burlington. Proceed to Billerica Center and the facility is 2 miles further on the left right on route 3A. The Lowell complex is located across from Lowell High School at 44 French St

"Our goal in Billerica and Lowell is to be able to offer a safe, secure place for all levels of bands to rehearse at reasonable prices" says Tory Turco.

A veritable 'cottage' industry

Toys with an attic

In conjunction with its book sale, the Friends of the Beebe Library in Wakefield will raffle off an original Henry Whipling dollhouse during the first weekend of June.

The colonial house, which will be on display at the library, features five rooms; an attic; a paneled Deerfield front door; a bay window; interior paneled doors with glass doorknobs and keys; details; quality; and imagination.

The son of a carpenter, Whipling is the former president of Shreve, Crump and Low.

Wait. Let's get the priorities straight.

The former president of Shreve, Crump and Low, Whipling is the son of a carpenter and the grandson of a brick mason. He skis; he sails; and he saws: helping a business assistant deal with a dollhouse kit, plus the enthusiasm of two granddaughters, launched Whipling on this career.

Welford

zation to do some recruiting.

Energetic, giving and perceptive, Carr wanted.

Energetic, giving and perceptive, he got.

Among the final 14 draft picks are representatives of New England Telephone, Spaulding Rehabilitation Hospital, the Massachusetts Coalition for the Homeless, the Suffolk County District Attorney's Office, Freedom House, UMASS-Boston, the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston.

And Welford.

He's choosy about his hot dogs; and wild about his 1966 Mustang, golf game, and family. He's crazy about his Wakefield "high school sweetheart and best friend" Karen (Conway) Welford - a field supervisor for the Department of Public Health - to whom he will have been married 25 years in July; and loves to spend time at home still surrounded by students. Wife Karen is studying for a master's degree from the UMASS-Boston McCormack Institute; 22-year-old son Corey is a senior at Holy Cross, soccer player and future teacher; 19 year-old Katie is a sophomore nursing major at the University of New Hampshire.

Welford speaks highly of his children as "wonderful people and great role models in the years to come." And of his mother Rose, "the best," who worked "at least 25 years" for the Wakefield schools and was secretary to recently retired Superintendent of Schools Steve Mayo.

"My mother was the classiest person," he says. "I'm proud of the fact she had the chance to see my family live by her ideals because she was the one who taught me all the true values of life."

He's also proud of his Wakefield origins; Reading connections; Reading Rotary Club presidency; 1994 title, 'Eastern Massachusetts Sub-Varsity Soccer Coach of the Year'; students; and teams. He's excited to have been the assistant coach of this year's Middlesex League championship boys soccer team, "the first Reading High boys soccer team to have ever won 'The League Championship.'" And passionate about the special role Reading plays in the Massachusetts Special Olympics.

On March 11th, the Reading High boys soccer team hosted more than 200 Special Olympian athletes at the Eastern Regional Basketball Playdowns, an event Welford orchestrated. More than 50 Reading High soccer players, cheerleaders, managers, and fans as well as more than 50 of their parents also shared in the day, which occurred with the blessing of several Reading groups and the hands-on participation of Celtic Pervis Ellison.

"We started off four years ago with about 25 people," says Welford, "and last month, we had 17 teams of Special Olympians from all over the state at the Reading High field house. It's a great, great day - a wonderful day for the town. We have a blast. It's great for the Olympians - some of whom have been here every year; and for our kids - who act as referees, time keepers, scorers, mentors, and coaches. They always ask when they can do it again."

In his rookie role on the Celtics board, Welford finds himself organizing parties for, rubbing elbows with, and "being the eyes and ears of" the Celtics but his main thrill remains working with kids.

"Although I no longer teach, I've always had the school system at heart," he says. "During my term as president of Rotary, the children were my main goal. We contributed heavily to the Reading High senior all-night party and gave a $4,000 donation to the Reading High Scholarship Foundation. As a member of the Boston Celtics 'family,' I've helped steer many activities involving the Celtics toward the Town of Reading so that the kids would benefit.

"I want to be remembered as a person whose family took a lot out of Reading, but hopefully, has given back more than we've taken out.

"I'm really not a person who likes a lot of recognition," he continues. "It's my feeling that as a parent, teacher and coach, it's always important to give back. I try to live by that theory and stress it to my own kids and soccer players. A simple thank-you is all we need."

Welford is modest, judgmental and lucky: he has the nerve to think he's boring; rates golf courses by the quality of their hot dogs; and happens to live in Reading, also home to Celtics Director of Public Relations Jeff Twiss, who nominated him for the board position.

But even the Celtics who courted Welford would have to concede he's not perfect: he coaches soccer; loves "golf, golf, golf!"; and, with no hoopla at all, easily makes a pitch for his all-time favorite sports figure: Mickey Mantle.

ter, in the Beebe Estate Carriage House on West Foster St., is scheduled to open in June and to be a "home away from home" for Melrose seniors today and tomorrow.

At this point, the Melrose Friends of Aging has received $166,000 for the project plus $30,000 in pledges. The latest fundraiser, a fair which attracted hundreds, brought in almost $2,500 - $1,090 through the sale of mugs. Fundraising efforts to complete construction, and purchase equipment and furniture continue.

"Benefactors" are welcome to donate $5,000; and "patrons," $1,000 to $4,999. "Leaders" may give between $500 and $999; "sponsors," between $100 and $499; and "friends," between $25 and $99. Benefactors, patrons and leaders will be recognized on plaques prominently displayed in the center's main lobby. Names of all donors will be inscribed in a book.

ATHLETE'S CORNER recently presented a check for $1,500 to 'Amazing Kids' contest winner Tom Smiley. On hand were (l to r) Bill Costa of KISS 108, Paula Smiley, (Tom's mon), Tom Smiley, 14, of Swampscott, John O'Leary of Athlete's Corner at Redstone Shopping Center in Stoneham, and Claire Monynihan, Reebok promotions. Athlete's Corner names contest winner

On Saturday, March 15, Tom Smiley, age 14, of Swampscott, was presented a check for $1,500 as the winner of the "Amazin' Kids" Contest sponsored by Athlete's Corner, Amazin' Fruits, Reebok and Kiss 108 f.m.

The announcement was made at the Reebok Kid's Day at the Athlete's Corner location in Stoneham. Also present was Kiss 108's own Billy Costa providing music, gifts and giveaways for the afternoon.

The contest took place over a period of 2 to 3 weeks in March, where an individual would submit an essay about a child, age one to sixteen, and describe why they thought this person was an "Amazin' Kid". Numerous essays were received at all Athlete's Corners throughout the contest. The essays then were judged, relating to the entrant involvement in school, sports and community service. From there, they would choose one 'Amazin' Kid'. "It was very difficult to decide as all of the entries we received were about truly amazin kids," said John O"Leary, Athlete's Corner buyer. "But Tom stood out! He is "Amazin'. Tom is 14 years old and is 6 feet tall. He is an honor role student in Swampscott Middle School and is active in the town's basketball program, where he was just named 1995 freshman MVP. Tom was diagnosed at age ten with diabetes and must give himself three injections of insulin a day. He also must plan these injections around his school, meals and sports. It takes a very committed and mature individual to maintain such a tremendous schedule and all of this at the age of 14 - this is an "Amazin" Kid!"

Body Walk program in Stoneham

More and more fitness enthusiasts are embracing walking as their first fitness choice. Recent findings have proven walking to reduce the risk of cardiovascular disease, reduce body fat, increase the strength of bones and improve psychological well being.

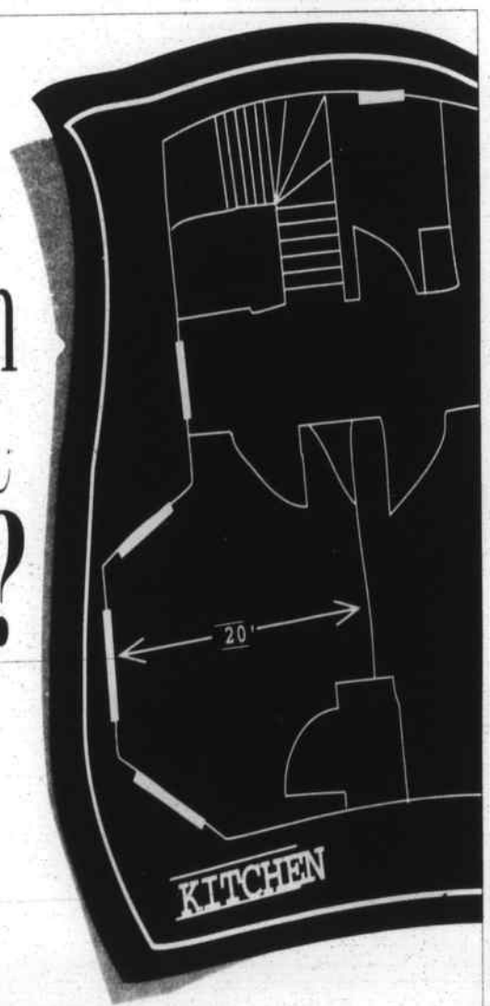

Boston Regional Medical Center will offer the Reebok Body Walk program Tuesdays and Fridays 9-10 am. Both beginners and well as fitness veterans are welcomed.

The program is designed to turn walking into a workout by engaging most of the body's muscle groups and by increasing speed, resulting in heightened cardiovascular benefits. Three walking techniques are covered in the program, each addressing specific exercise goals for all levels of walkers.

For more information about the Reebok Body Walk Program call the Health Promotion office at 617-979-7057.

Hayden Planetarium reopens

THE NEW CHARLES HAYDEN PLANETARIUM is the most technologically advanced planetarium in New England, offering visitors a unique window to the universe. The Planetarium's multimedia system features 108 special effects projectors, four large-format video projectors and three laser disc players, enabling the Planetarium staff to produce countless different visual images.

The Museum of Science in Boston has completed a $1 million renovation of the Charles Hayden Planetarium, transforming it into a high tech, celestial adventure and the most technologically advanced Planetarium in New England. The new planetarium reopens to the public on Sunday, April 16 with the World Premiere of "Martin's Mysterious Universe," a visually captivating show that explores our universes most intriguing mysteries. The show is an original production of the Museum of Science and is narrated by comedian Martin Mull.

The renovation, which began January 3, 1995, is the most extensive initiated since the Planetarium was constructed in 1958. The renovated theater features a new multimedia computer system, video projection capability, completely new interiors improved seating, and a new Audience Response System that allows audiences to interact with the programs by registering preferences, answering questions and in some instances, directing the course of the show.

"People often misunderstand or are disinterested in astronomy because outer space is physically so far removed from our everyday experience," said Larry Schindler, Director of the Charles Hayden Planetarium. "Our intention with the new Planetarium is to rejuvenate the public's interest in astronomy by bringing the universe to life right before their eyes.

With the new technology we've installed, we can transport visitors on a realistic trip through space that is both dynamic and interactive. The new Planetarium opens a window to the universe and introduces visitors to the cosmos in a way that is both entertaining and educational,"

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

Just call them 'a cut above'

Burlington budgets more ... and less

The Burlington School Committee has voted unanimously to approve a proposed fiscal 1996 budget of $21,007,531, up 3.1 percent as mandated by the Education Reform Act.

Proposed salaries total $16,254,806; non-salaries, $4,752,725.

Although Superintendent of Schools Robert Neely initially proposed a 4.4 percent increase, the School Committee - thinking that increase wouldn't get past the Ways and Means Committee or Town Meeting - called for cuts totaling about $269,000.

Cut from that budget at this point are: one middle school special education inclusion specialist (at $33,894); one "roaming" elementary substitute teacher (at $11,700); $40,000 each for the Fox Hill, Memorial and Pine Glen elementary schools (now $20,000 each), $20,000 for Wildwood (now $5,000); $45,000 for the Marshall Simonds Middle School (now $25,000); $50,000 for the high school (now $30,000).

The proposed allocation for systemwide maintenance - $115,000 - was also axed.

These cuts were not made without some discussion.

Up $13,000 plus $22,000

The Woburn School Committee has voted 5-2 to earmark up to $13,000 for Superintendent of Schools Carl R. Batchelder to use to settle principals' contracts. The $13,000 will be added to the $22,000 the SchoolCom had already voted to authorize for that purpose from the current budget.

Many Woburn principals have been without a raise "for some time," according to the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle" and their responsibilities have increased under ed' reform. Half of Woburn's 12 principals have not had a raise in four years; four recent hires have not had a raise for one year; and two are new this year.

Some principals, according to the "Times," could potentially be making less than their assistant principals or more senior teachers.

According to Batchelder in the "Times," new contracts will call for performance evaluations to determine future raises which could range from zero to six percent. The new evaluations will be similar to those Batchelder undergoes every year with "categories more appropriate for principals," such as interpersonal skills with parents and teachers, managerial and leadership skills, money management and budgeting skills, and components "taken out of effective schools research."

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

Eye Exam Benefits

(NAPS)—An annual eye exam can be a great way to keep an eye on your overall health.

That's because an exam conducted by an eyecare professional can uncover health conditions with seemingly little connection to the eyes. A comprehensive eye exam opens windows for detecting serious problems such as high blood pressure, diabetes and brain tumors, according to the Better Vision Institute (BVI).

A typical eye exam usually begins with questions about medical history. The patient is tested for visual acuity by reading a chart of progressively smaller letters. A machine called a phoropter measures for refractive error in the way your eyes focus. Eye movement is checked for misalignment and coordination. A tonometry test checks for glaucoma by measuring the pressure level of fluid in your eyes. The eyecare professional can also check for cataracts, glaucoma, high blood pressure, diabetes, brain tumors and other diseases by dilating the pupil with eye drops and looking inside the eyeball with a beam of light.

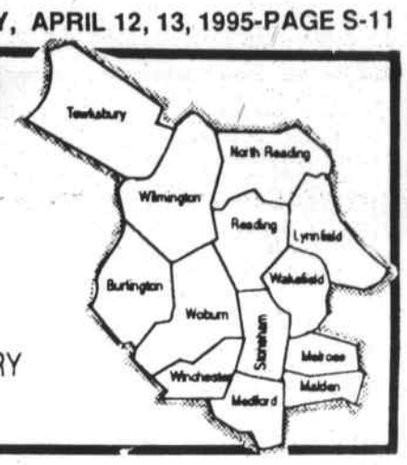

An eye exam could help you see your way clear to better health.

For more information, contact The Better Vision Institute, P.O. Box 77097, Washington, D.C. 20013; or call 1-800-424-8422.

Community Concerts plans 50th Anniversary season

Music from the big band era will fill Stoneham High School auditorium at 3:00 on October 22 as The Greater Bostonians launch the celebration of Stoneham community Concert's 50th season.

This swing orchestra and chorus with 50 people, who are known as the "Music Makers for the Jimmy Fund" and are led by the famous Eddie Madden, will play such favorites as the Twelfth Street Rag and Send in the Clowns.

The tone of Stoneham's next concert at 7:45 pm on January 23, 1996, will switch from swing to classical with a performance by the duo pianists, Markham and Broadway. This internationally known duo, who play everything from Saint-Saens' Carnival of the Animals" to music by Bach and Vaughn Williams, are known for their technical mastery, imagination and ensemble.

Dale Gonyea, a comedian/pianist who has been acclaimed a Victor Borge's heir, will add a humorous touch to Stoneham's 50th season, with a performance on Sunday, April 14, 1996 at 3:00 pm. The winner of numerous awards, including the Emmy, Gonyea has written for, among others, Disney, Bette Midler and Ray Stevens. He has also played on the Andy Williams show and at Caesar' Palace in Las Vegas Gonyea's act will combine some of the more than 500 comic songs he has written with masterful piano playing.

At 3:00 on Sunday, Mary 19, 1996, Stoneham celebration will culminate with a special performance by The Black Eagle Jazz Band. This Band's repertoire includes over 600 tunes, ranging from such New Orleans giants as King Oliver and Louis Armstrong to Duke Ellington and Fats Waller.

Subscriptions for this banner year can be purchased at the Stoneham Public Library from April 24 - 29, or from any of 50 neighborhood volunteers. For more information about subscribing, contact Lola Freeman, 617-438-0835; Stephanie Maughan, 617-932-9989; Nancy Leavitt, 617-944-5262; or Lillian Lawler, 508-658-2125.

Celebrate Earth Day

The Linden Tree Coffeehouse announces the annual visit of one of New England's favorite singer and dulcimer player, Gail Rundlett on Saturday, April 22

Rundlett was named by Linden Tree coordinators as one of the coffeehouse's favorite performer in a recent issue of The Folk Almanac. "If the LTC doesn't schedule Gail for a spring concert, spring just might not come that year." Audience surveys completed by LTC regulars (aged 8 to over 60) picked her as one of the performers they most want back. Rundlett will feature selections from her new recording "Full Circle" which includes the title cut, a Tim O'Brien lullaby. For those fans of her previous releases. "Just in Time" and "Farther Along" this is certainly good news.

Also performing that evening will be Virtual Harmony, a quartet comprised of Gail Rundlett, Deborah Silverstein, Anne Goodwin, and Rebecca Brown. These powerful singers and performers create rich and complex harmonies, some a cappela and some accompanied by dulcimer, fiddle,and guitar. Music includes songs from Silverstein, who has a bluegrass background and previously recorded on Flying Fish. The group also sings two cuts on Rundlett's new recording.

Opening the show at 8:00 will be two up and coming performers. Admission will be $6. Refreshments will be available. The Linden Tree Coffeehouse is located at 326 Main Street, Wakefield in the Unitarian-Universalist Church. For information: 246-2836.

SPONGES:

They can do wonders

What do we think of when we hear the word recycle? Of course, it means putting the glass, plastic and cans in a bin and the newspapers in another but what else?

When Ruth Cogan of the Vinery, in North Reading thinks of it, things come to mind like how to reuse this old wooden frame, odd chair or the kids beat up but sentimental toy box. Who thought mini skirts and platform shoes would return? "Old is new again," so use your imagination and a little elbow grease. Transform the old frame into a new mirror by painting it gold or sponge painting.

What? How? Sounds like too large a project? Not really. Once the frame has been cleaned and mirror repairs, if any, have been made, paint it several coats of, for instance, white, then after practicing on a piece of white paper, try your hand at sponging. Yes, a sea sponge works best, but at a cost of approximately ten dollars. Keep in mind that latex and acrylic paint dry rather fast, so keep rinsing your sponge. A trusty car-washing sponge, broken into pieces works just as well.

Proceed by lightly dipping the bottom ridge of your sponge into the chosen accent color and dab lightly onto the frame or chosen item. Since you want a blended effect, keep twisting and turning the sponge.

Remember when it dries, you can always sponge over with a little white or a second color.

Many hardware stores carry mirror and supplies - what have you got to lose. Experiment. Once you're feeling confident, add a few vines to a piece and maybe some flowers or ribbons to finish it off.

If you summer near the sea, stencil on some sea shells or little boats. It could just be the perfect piece for your bath, hallway or even the cottage.

Recycle your old toy box in the same fashion. Sponging does hide a multitude of scratches and gives the piece a whole new look. What used to hold toys becomes a great place to store sweaters, blankets or even your holiday ornaments. A few coats of sealer brings out the colors and helps to make your piece more durable.

Once you've mastered the simplicity of sponging, consider ragging, dragging and faux marbleizing. Remember it's all a matter of practice and your only limitation is your own imagination.

Stop by and browse at the Vinery for spring floral and painting ideas.

A SEA SPONGE, latex paint and Grandama's old mahogany bench easily transform into a durable and playful settee.

Affordable Decorating

A new concept

In response to public demand and the mind-set of the '90s, a new breed of interior designers and consultants have appeared, this according to Sally Baron, of The Decorating Solution of Andover. In the past, people have been apprehensive about using a decorator's services because they assumed that the cost would exceed their budgets. Still others felt that their project or needs were too small to enlist the help of a professional.

Not so. Sally Baron and other budget conscious decorators will provide services tailored specifically to these needs, regardless of the size of the project. "Consumers need to be clear about how far they want to go, financially... and they can't be afraid (or embarrassed) to put a cap on their spending budget," explains Baron.

Q. Exactly how does this service work?

A. A client who is looking for design advice contracts for hourly consultation and services such as laying out a room using the clients' own furnishings, choosing fabrics and wall coverings that may be ordered from local vendors, taking "day trips" to shops and outlets. The client controls the pace and costs.

Q. What about the client who doesn't have the time or desire to be directly involved in the minute to minute decision making?

A. No problem. This service works especially well for that client so long as she has a clear idea of budget and goals. Furnishings and accessories may be obtained from a variety of sources - from the hidden local outlets to the Boston Design Center!

Q. When might a client need this service?

A. You've just moved into a new home and you just can't make your furniture fit.
• Your current home needs a "facelift" and you're not sure how and where to start.
• You're in need of a "quick fix" consultation - visitors are coming and your house just doesn't make it.
• You'd like to repaint and would like a second opinion on shade or color coordinating with other rooms.
• You've been handed a box of grandmother's heirlooms and have no idea where and how to arrange them.
• You've added on or renovated and are now ready to decorate that space.
• You are about to sell and want a consultation as to how to make your home "market ready" for your target purchaser.

Q. What are the current decorating trends?

A. With increasing numbers of people working out of their homes, the office/computer center in the home is one such decorating "hot spot." Currently the most frequently requested re-dos are related to the family media center or living room. Trying to attractively coordinate the media center within the family room is also popular. Transforming that formal living room into usable and functional, yet sophisticated space is on the minds of many homeowners. This goes along with the back to basics 'stay at home' entertainment of the '90s.

Q. My home is small, but we love to entertain during the warmer months. What do you suggest?

A. Outdoor areas are being utilized more fully whether it's dining "Al fresco" or just relaxing on your screenporch in your grandmother's antique wicker chair. These spaces can look as lovely and inviting as any room in your home with a few accessories and the right touches.

Q. Can your give us any trade secrets? Like where to get the best buys?

A. Some clients prefer upscale furniture showrooms. That's easy. Personally, I enjoy searching for one of a kind pieces and other "treasures" from antique and second hand stores and off price concerns such as Building 19 and local furniture outlets. I recently saved a client over $2,500 on an oriental rug that I found at Building 19. "I won't tell if you won't tell."

Q. Affordable decorating: A new concept?

A. Not really. Today, people of all incomes want their homes to reflect their personalities and with a little flexibility they can get their wish. Do your homework. Look through enough magazines so that you know what you like and dislike. Then consult with a professional decorator to find out how to make your wishes a reality.

Sally Baron , Andover, is a residential and commercial interior decorator, whose work can be seen in such national publicatrions as Builder Magazine and Showcase of Homes.

Rooms: Give your tired one a new lease on life

Vitality. You may be feeling full of vitality and energy, health and vigor -- but what about your home? Maybe you're spending more time at the health club and less time at home because your rooms are starting to look tired and out-of-date.

If that's the case, perhaps an influx of energy and creativity on your part will get your home in as good shape as you're in. Here are some quick fix-ups that will revitalize your rooms and give them a new lease on life.

According to Bruce Slovin of Fabric Town in Reading, "Open and flowing is the way to go." He offers us the following advice:

• Simplify the color palette by eliminating excess colors. Too many colors in a room look jarring and dated. Sharp contrasts of two or three interesting colors look fresh and visually exciting.

• Think stripes and checks to enliven a room. The crisper and more graphic the patterns, the better. Mix in clean, bold stripes with your floral prints to provide an instant burst of energy.

• Lighten up the window treatments. Nothing ages a room as much as heavy, cumbersome draperies. Choose a window-treatment style that maximizes the light and airs out a room. The fewer the layers on the window, the fresher the room will look. One of the best ways to revitalize your room is with a sheer window treatment, such as voile or lace, or simple drapery panels in a lovely floral print.

• Bring in a mix of textures. Too much of the same kind of furniture looks straight out of bygone days. Mix in wicker, metal, painted wood and other finishes along with your traditional wooden pieces. Avoid upholstery that is too matched. Try a combination of solids, prints, checks or stripes for a quick jolt of vitality.

•De-clutter your rooms. A few larger accessories make a stronger design statement than lots of little knickknacks. Bold is better.

• Bring in nature and the outdoors for fresh appeal. Try large-scale potted plants, fresh flowers and natural materials, such as sisal, wicker and terra cotta, to lighten up a room

• Raise the roof, if you can, to create an airy, spacious environment. Low, claustrophobic ceilings make a room look old. If you can't raise the roof literally, try to do it visually with the addition of moldings or wallpaper borders, or paint the ceiling in a different color.

• Use accessories to let your personality shine through. Show off your collections, and display your books. Put together groupings of objects in interesting and unusual ways.

Mix in clean, bold stripes with your floral prints to provide an instant burst of energy.

• Cover what you can't afford to replace. An ordinary dining table can be revitalized with a tablecloth in a vibrant pattern; the dining chairs can be simply slipcovered. If your sofa looks old and tired, add a tailored slipcover in a crisp stripe or check, or just throw a beautiful blanket or textile over the back. If you can't pull up your faded wall-to-wall carpet, cover it with inexpensive sisal or interesting, small area rugs. A trick as simple as recovering old, worn pillows with a few yards of new fabric may make your old furniture come back to life.

According to Paul Slovin, "Fabric Town offers trained design professionals who will gladly help you revitalize your home. Our customers don't mind paying less. We're family-owned and -run, and our business keeps growing because we always did, and always will, continue to serve our customers personally."

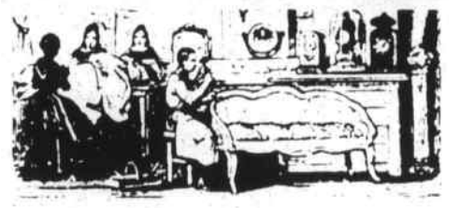

You can satisfy practically all of your home decorating needs at Fabric Town on Route 28 in Reading.

Going into its thirtieth year, Fabric Town has grown to more than 16,000 square feet full of fabrics, patterns, notions and trims displayed in an easy-to-find order. Fabric Town also carries one of the largest supplies of drapery and upholstery hardware.

Fabric Town has everything set up so that decorators can quickly see selections of decorator fabrics for draperies, slip covers, reupholstery, shades, blinds, custom made table pad covers, radiator covers and all drapery hardware. The stock also carries a complete in-stock wallpaper section specializing in wallcoverings to match the decorator fabrics.

Experienced decorators are always on hand to address your home-decorating problems. Along with Fabric Town's free home decorating service, Fabric Town can help you do it yourself or will be happy to do the complete project for you in their own workrooms.

Design
Where do I Begin?

In the design field, "Where do I begin?" is the most frequently asked question. The answer to this question is to begin with a plan.

The first step of the plan is to take an inventory of the room: What is staying? What is going? This will aid in planning a budget.

The second step is to evaluate the features of the room. In the design process, bad features can be played down while outstanding features can be played up. For example, a lovely window can be dressed to enhance its beauty. Keep in mind that old saying, "If you've got it, flaunt it."

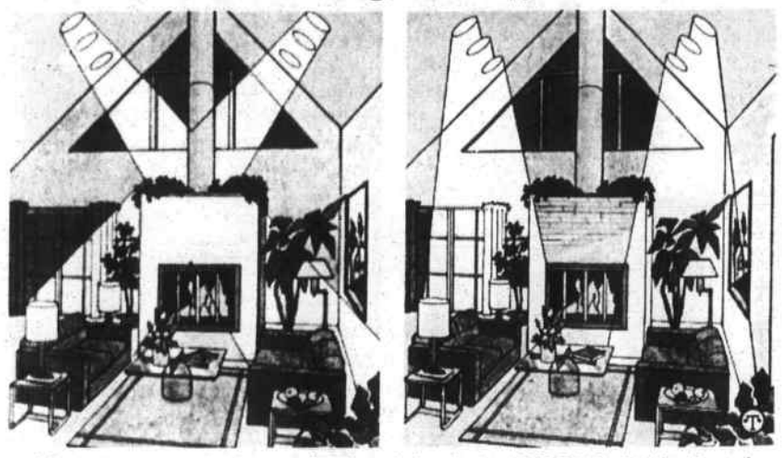

The third step is to set a realistic time table. If there is a special occasion that the redecoration is being done for, make sure that plans are made far enough in advance. Some of these special occasions, such as weddings, can be stressful enough without the added pressure of a "last minute" decorating project.

A good design plan helps clarify what you should do, when to do it and why you are doing what you're doing. So sometimes it is helpful to enlist professional advice just to get your plan so you don't make costly mistakes.

But most of all, Lynne from Lynne Green Interiors says "Have fun!"

Decorator's Notebook

The "Light" Stuff

How to put your home in the right light. WRONG (left): Regular recessed fixtures in sloped ceilings direct light across the room and not down toward the floor. This exposes the lamps to view, produces undesirable glare and improperly illuminates the room. RIGHT (right): Patented sloped ceiling down-lites direct light straight down from a sloped ceiling. This directs the light perpendicular to the floor, reduces direct view of the lamps and controls glare.

THE 'LIGHT' STUFF

If one of the high points of your home decorating is your high, wide and handsome ceilings - or if you just hope someday they will be - here's news that may delight you.

You can now get gorgeous, specially designed sloped ceiling down-lites to brighten your open and airy room. Sloped ceiling down-lites are available for standard (9° to 27°) and super-slope (30° to 45°) ceilings. They can even be retrofitted into an existing lighting receptacle with the "remodel" sloped ceiling housing.

Long a specialist in the design, manufacture and marketing of recessed and trac lighting fixtures, Juno Lighting, Inc., has recently introduced four new sloped ceiling multipliers that direct the light straight down, produce low surface brightness and are highly efficient.

They come in four finishes for just about any decor and each is designed to use a 75-watt halogen lamp.

Halogen lights, company experts explain, get the light where you want it from a distance. Compared to incandescent lamps, halogen gives about 40 percent more light at the floor and can often save energy and money. In addition, it's a white light, so the true colors of the furniture, wall and floor coverings come through.

For your free "Sloped Ceiling Down-Lites" brochure, write to Juno Lighting, Inc., Marketing Department- PVH, 2001 S. Mt. Prospect Road, P.O. Box 5065, DesPlaines, Illinois 60017-5065.

A COUNTRY HOME

A country home is dressed up for the art of living. Nothing beats the classic look, warm feeling, and homey atmosphere of a well-planned "country home." Whether it's in the city or overlooking the rolling hills of a green pasture, the country look is easy to achieve.

Certain styles adapt better to money, or the lack of it, than others. Country, with its unpretentious charm, is easier to pull off on a tight budget than more formal styles that rely on fine furnishings and usually, a fatter budget.

Today, country items can be found everywhere. Farm tables are mainstream furniture. Painted jelly cabinets, country mule chests, and whimsical birdhouses now stand alongside the finest of traditional home furnishings in any furniture store. But beware of getting carried away with the folk country look. Too much can very easily begin to look "cutesy."

Just a little bit country...please.

Color:
It's green and brown through '99

Experts in the decorating industry report green and brown are the colors of the 90's.

Instantly, we have visions of harvest gold refrigerators and avocado green tile dancing in our heads. Colors evoke an emotional response from us all, guided more by the heart than by the eye. As a matter of fact, the mind can accurately remember a color for just seven seconds. Since color is a critical element of any design, the choices can become overwhelming.

In reality, the color trends of the 90's are much easier on the palette! The current market reflects an overall movement toward natural hues in this globally conscious decade. There is a developing awareness of our surroundings. The emphasis is on the colors of nature.

If you are looking for inspiration, Linda Hentschel of Renaissance Interior in North Reading offers these tips:

• Start with a treasure.

Choose colors that compliment your most cherished and precious belongings, such as a prized piece of art, an antique rug or an heirloom sofa.

• Peek out your windows.

Perhaps your windows hold a view of a blue pond, green lawn or flowering garden. Let the scenery provide color cues for your room and invite the outside in.

• Check out your wardrobe.

Usually we surround ourselves with our favorite and most comfortable colors. Your closet may contain your best color clues.

Most importantly, your home should reflect your lifestyle and a decorating professional can help you interpret the trends that work for you.

Put your money Where your market is!

Your kitchen: The new one should start with the old one

When considering a kitchen remodel, the best place to begin is often with your current kitchen. That's the advice of Anthony DeGregorio of Kitchen Kabinet Warehouse Outlet, a Wellborn Cabinet distributor in Woburn.

"Studying photos of different kitchen designs will give you a good idea of the colors or styles you prefer," explains De Gregorio, "but evaluating your present space will helps you determine exactly what needs to be improved and what doesn't."

When rating your current kitchen, there are several things to consider in order to find out how functional and fashionable the room is. You must carefully consider cabinet storage, appliances, fixtures, surfaces, countertops, lighting and electrical systems, and room orientation and space.

The following questions, developed by the National Kitchen & Bath Association (NKBA, are designed to help you evaluate your kitchen:

• Do the cabinets feature timesaving accessories such as roll-out shelves, divided drawers and lazy susans?

• Is there enough cabinet shelf space?

• Are the cabinet doors style and color up to date?

• Is there a place to sort recyclables?

When rating your appliances, it's important to consider the following:

• Is the refrigerator/freezer large enough?

• Based on the way you cook, are the oven and cooktop located where you want them?

• Do you have a microwave oven, conveniently located?

• Are all of your appliances in good working order?

Questions to ask when evaluating surfaces and countertops include:

• Are the surfaces easy to clean?

• Is there enough counter space?

• Is the counter space located where you need it?

•Are the counters the right height for you to work comfortably?

You must also consider the lighting and mechanical elements:

• Do you have task lighting above the countertop?

• Do you have enough electrical outlets?

• Is there good ventilation in the cooking center?

Further evaluation to consider is Kitchen Lifestyle use:

• Who is the primary cook?

• How many other household members cook?

• Do any of those members have physical limitations?

•What type of cooking do you normally do?

- Heat and serve meals?
- Full course "from scratch" meals?
- Bulk cooking for freezing leftovers?

• Do you entertain frequently?

- Formally? -Informally?

• Is the kitchen a socializing place?

• Where do you plan to sort recyclables?

- Kitchen? -Laundry?-Garage? -other?

• What type of feeling would you like your new kitchen space to have?

-Sleek/Contemporary
-Traditional
-Strictly functional
-Family Retreat
-Warm and cozy country
-Open and airy
-Formal
-personal design statement

Finally, you should think about the overall space of the kitchen. This entails some of the following questions:

• Does the kitchen relate to adjacent rooms the way you would like?

• Is the kitchen arranged so that "people traffic" is directed away from the cook's activities?

• Is there a casual dining/conversation area in the room?

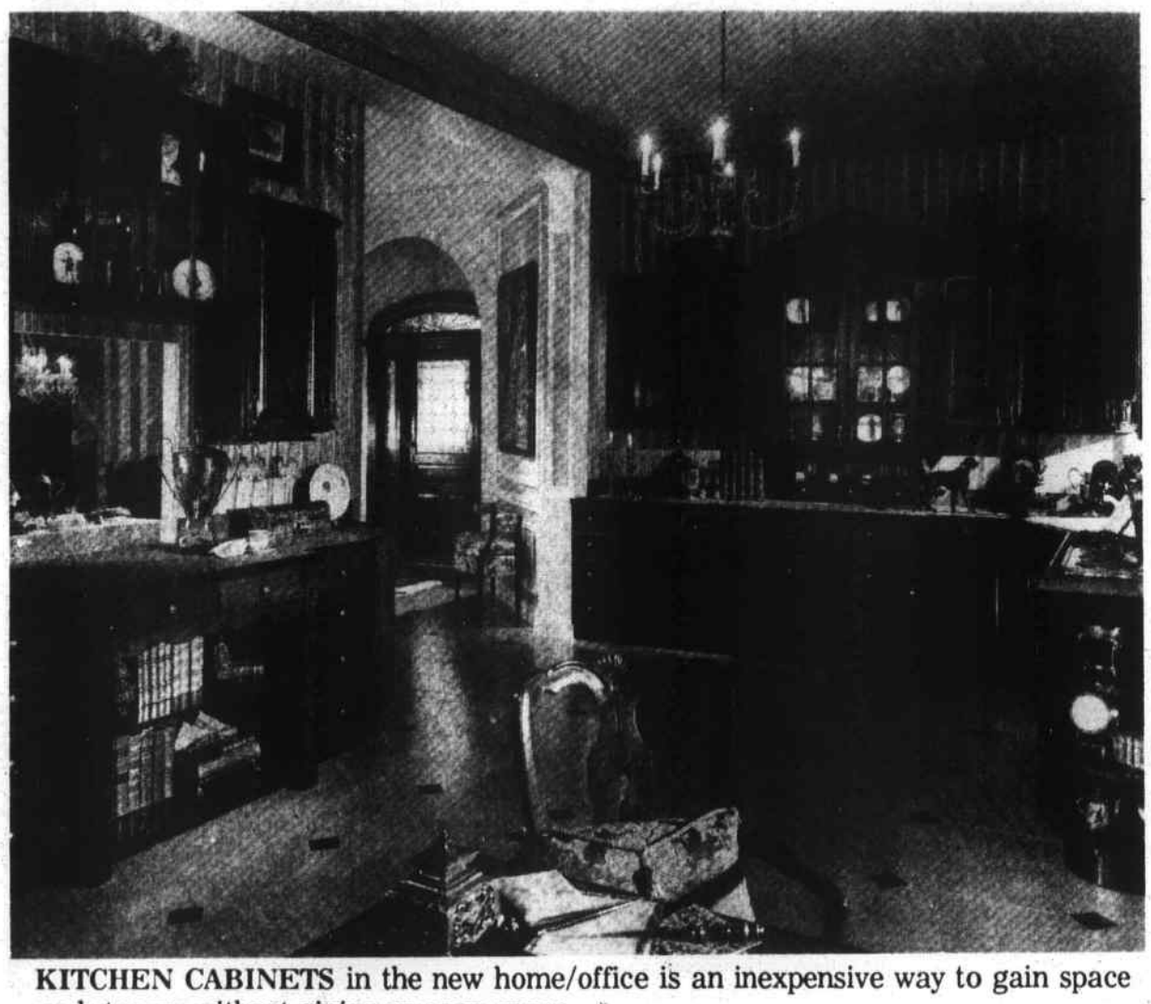

The list is quite extensive and yet, it doesn't even cover everything! Suddenly, a kitchen remodel might seem like an impossible project. However, by evaluating your current kitchen, you will get a clear idea of what items need to be changed in order to create a space that's perfect for you. According to DeGregorio, the evaluation will also be quite useful when you take the next step and visit a kitchen showroom.

"You will be able to clearly communicate to the kitchen design professional, such as a member of NKBA, what you are looking to achieve with your new space," says DeGregorio.

"At this point," warns DeGregorio , "budget becomes very important. The amount of money you would like to spend on your new kitchen will influence which components are included in the design."

Again, it's important to use a checklist. Your kitchen specialist can assist you in this process. Make a list of various items that could be included in your new kitchen. The list should include features such as new cabinets, a new floor, a new dishwasher, trash compactor, recycling bins, etc. When the list in complete, review the items to determine those that you "need" and those that you "want." By doing this you can focus on the features that are most important to you and ensure that they are included in the design.

Once you have completed your evaluation, decided on the style, color and appliances, and chosen a professional designer, the real work of designing and installing your kitchen begins. Since you have done all the preliminary work, this process will be much easier. It will also be smoother if you work with a professional kitchen designer.

KITCHEN CABINETS in the new home/office is an inexpensive way to gain space and storage without giving up open space.

Spring

HOW TO BRING IT INDOORS

Springtime is a time of rebirth and renewal. Along with winter coats, there's an undeniable urge to shed the warm, winter-cozy look in the home, replacing it with a lighter, brighter look.

Ethan Allen offers the following ideas to bring the essence of a spring day indoors:

• Replace dark or jewel-toned rugs with natural coir of sisal mats such as our Crosswork Rug for an earthy, informal look. Or bring a profusion of flowers indoors with a subtle hued floral dhurrie rug.

• Create billowy window treatments with sheer white or light colored fabrics (linen, voile or fine cotton work well). When windows are open, they'll dance in those gentle spring breezes while letting in light, light,light! For a tailored, opaque look that offers greater privacy, opt for a crisp duck or canvas in a neutral shade.

• A new accent chair or even a sofa in a muted neutral or lively bright color will lift the spirits of any room. Today's more relaxed and casual lifestyles call for sumptuous released silhouettes you can sink into. A lived-in, yet luxurious look is achieved with upholstery in the latest sun-washed or soft, brushed fabrics, denims, naturals and elegantly casual damasks.

• Take a lighthearted approach to home design and add a piece (or more) of light natural wood or painted furniture to your living room or bedroom. A crisply geometric end table or jelly cupboard in a colorful finish adds a touch of whimsy and can reinvent a room's entire look. Repeat an accent color throughout with additional accessories such as picture frames to enliven the look further.

• Hang a decorative mirror opposite a windowed wall to create the illusion of additional windows. Your room will seem larger, brighter and, lest we forget, richer and more luxurious.

• Change bedding to give a bedroom fresh appeal and create a sense of new possibilities! A new duvet cover, sheets and pillow shams in neutrals or lively brights can be exciting and inexpensive way to take your bedroom from winter to spring.

• Color and warmth can be instantly added to any room with lush, flowering plants. Display your most beautiful specimen on an elegant stand from Ethan Allen's Signature Collection of hand-crafted wood accent pieces.

• Accessorize your home with natural materials and imagery. A white ceramic lamp, a framed print of a seascape or a collection of colorful bud vases, are charming ways to invite spring into your home.

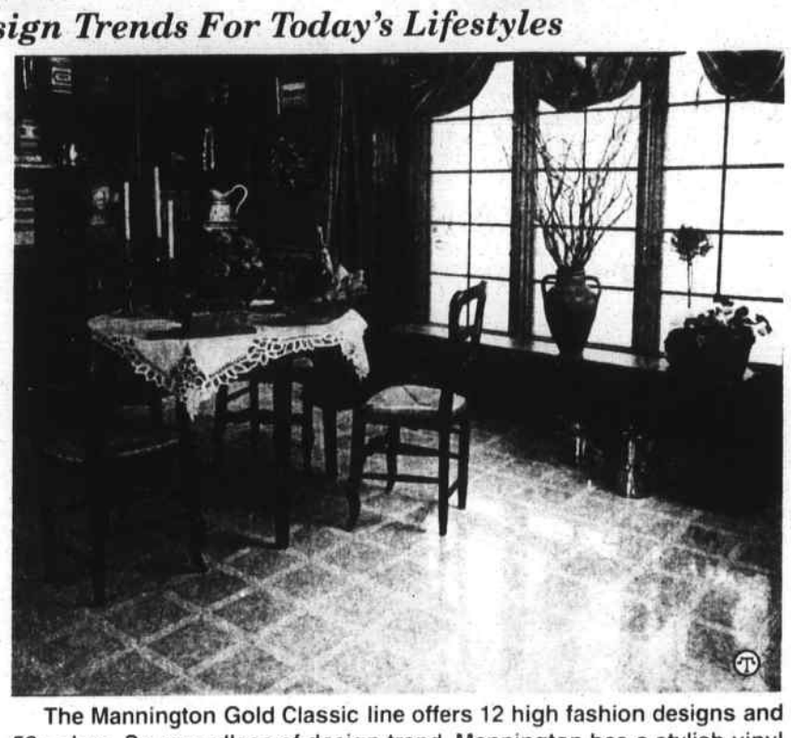

Ethan Allen provides a wide variety of customer services including complimentary design assistance, in-store and at-home. Ethan Allen's Interiors Plus! system takes the guess-work out of upholstery by using computers to show customers exactly what the fabric they've selected will look like on a finished upholstered piece.

Ethan Allen's new credit card makes it easy to plan monthly payments for home furnishings investments. And, Ethan Allen offers free local delivery.

Ethan Allen is an international home furnishings company with twenty manufacturing facilities located in the United States. There are over 288 Ethan Allen stores in the U.S., Canada and abroad.

Home Design Trends For Today's Lifestyles

The Mannington Gold Classic line offers 12 high fashion designs and 58 colors. So regardless of design trend, Mannington has a stylish vinyl floor, such as Pompano in Clay Agate, to complement the home decor.

(NAPS)—Decorating tastes of today's consumers are far from paint-by-number. Casual people who like to get their hands dirty in the garden may prefer a relaxed kitchen, but want a very formal dining area. A whimsical and funky kid's room may be across the hall from a romantic master suite.

According to Stuart Beattie, Vice President, Styling and Design for Mannington Resilient Floors, there are currently eight dominant trends for the coming year. "Certain lifestyles may be more suited to one trend than another," he says, "This shouldn't limit consumers unless they like a harmonious look. Combinations of styling trends often produce decorating masterpieces that capture the many moods of a household."

Trends to consider for 1995 are:

• Young At Heart—Whether it's a cartoon fish on a shower curtain or a zany piece of painted pottery, this trend appeals to decorators who like childhood fun and amusing conversational pieces.

• 50's Revival—Great for accent fabrics and casual dinnerware, this includes Art Deco influences which saw a revival in the 50's (a la Miami's South Beach).

• Bed & Breakfast—This "country goes botanical" trend reflects our aging population's interest in the garden and the nostalgic charm of a country inn (a look a little softer than "American Farmhouse" and less busy than "English Cottage"). Beattie says many stylish floor coverings today, such as the Mannington Gold Classic Florenza design or the delicately-designed flowers and leaves of La Petite Fleur, beautifully suit this style trend.

• Utility Style—Think traditional, functional and classic. Visualize beautiful beiges, whites and soft blues and the always-in-style basics.

• Purist—The barely there interior in which "less is more"—Italian linens, taupe couches, pale wall coverings.

• Global Bazaar—This includes design influences from Asia, America (Native Indians), Mexico, India, Africa and Europe. So whether you're going back to your roots, or dreaming of a far away land, there's plenty of ways to bring the look home.

• The Romantic Years—Period furniture, in which craftsmanship and timeless style are king, dominate – from Louis the Fourteenth to Queen Anne, from Victorian to New Classical. It's interior design for "An Age of Innocence" home.

• Painterly Abstractions—Looks taken from Twentieth Century art like Picasso and Matisse let a home decorator create a very dramatic, colorful and personal design statement. Modern kitchenware, bed linens, men's ties and women's apparel all reflect this trend.

Of course the best aspect to this constantly evolving cycle of decor trends is that consumers have the chance to explore whole new interior options or to update favorite rooms with interesting accents at a moment's whim.

Decorator's Notebook

(NAPS)—You can have what feels like a new home just by rearranging your furnishings a bit.

The experts at The Bombay Company have provided us with a few tips that may help you make the most of your furnishings, your budget and your good taste.

• Create a focal point in a room with a large piece of furniture or a treasured piece of art.

• Personalize a room with photographs of your family and friends. Frame a number of them to make an interesting wall arrangement or to group on a chairside table.

• Angle your sofa and chairs to change the shape of your room.

• You can make any room look cozier with lots of colorful pillows in a mix of textures. Toss them on a couch, window seat or the floor.

• Choose versatile furniture that serves several functions and can be moved from room to room when you want to redecorate.

• Lighting sets the mood. Table lamps should be adequate for reading. Torchere, buffet and canister lamps provide extra environmental lighting.

• Anchor a wall arrangement by placing furniture under it against the wall. A sofa, table or desk extends the visual area to create a complete grouping.

• For an eclectic look, mix different furniture styles and colors. Take your cue from a favorite piece, then mix and match.

• Furniture additions should either complement the size and color scheme of the room or provide contrast. The mixture you put together gives your home its personal appeal.

• Accessorize with treasured mementoes to reflect your personal style.

Hopi Art: Contemporary art of Kim Obrzut is unique

Prestige Gallery

75 Newbury Street, Rte. 1 North, Danvers
(508) 535-5070

It is with much excitement that we at Prestige Gallery announce that we are now carrying the works of Kim Obrzut. Kim is a Native American Indian of Hopi descent. She was born in Phoenix and spent most of her years growing up in urban Phoenix. She now resides in northern Arizona where she works while she raises her three children.

Kim combines her academic art background with memories of her late Hopi grandfather's Kachina making skills. "He left the reservation and Old Orabi when my mother was young and anglicized his Indian name. He used to say, "Take the best of both worlds. I think he'd be pleased with what we've done with that decision."

Hopi Sculpture by Kim Obrzut

Kim's work is very contemporary, but her sculptures are steeped in spiritual and symbolic content, her main focus is on the Hopi woman. "The maidens I create are symbolic of the continuation of life, they are the procreation, the bearer of life."

For this artist there is beauty in this process. She initiates action that gives a spiritual renewal to the earth's substance, while adding her own creativity. This blend of clay and artistry becomes the symbolic essence of what it is to be a Hopi potter. The "earth's spirit" and the "human spirit" are combined.

Kim uses the traditional Hopi hand-coiled techniques, coiling the clay, smoothing, cleaning and scraping it, then continuing by adding another coil. Kim says, "As a Hopi artisan, I talk with my hands; the clay and the traditional method of creating become my inner voice."

Prestige has some lovely pieces of Kim's work. The clay is white in color with clean simple majestic lines. It is breathtakingly beautiful in its utter simplicity.

HINTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Glass Block Complements Any Decor

(NAPS)—If home redecorating is in your future, you may want to check into the advantages of using glass block. More homeowners are turning to glass block to beautify and brighten rooms to create free-flowing spaces. According to Cheryl Tarby, marketing specialist for Pittsburgh Corning Corporation, a U.S. manufacturer of glass block products, glass block has become one of the most popular building and decorating materials available. "Homeowners are realizing that glass block is a very versatile product and can be used to complement any decor," Tarby said.

Durable, elegant glass block lends a lavish, more spacious look to this bathroom.

Shedding its former image as a product used primarily to secure basement windows, or appropriate only for contemporary settings, glass block has come of age. Today, glass block is recognized for its ability to enhance homes of all styles, whether southwestern, traditional, contemporary or country—new or old. With the flexibility to combine with other building materials, glass block can create many interesting looks. When used with wood, for example, glass block takes on a traditional flair.

With creativity and imagination, glass block can be used in any room or to accent any feature. When walls are replaced with glass block partitions, living areas come alive with more light. Glass block adds allure to the bathroom or spa and beautifies staircases, balconies, and existing windows. Its flexibility opens up a wide range of possibilities for external use, too—in exterior walls, patios, pools, even sidelights. Wherever this decorative building material is used, it creates an atmosphere of elegance and distinction.

Today, glass block is available in a wide selection of sizes, shapes, and patterns. According to Tarby, by mixing and matching the patterns of glass block, any look can be obtained. "What we have is a building material that has decorators excited by its prospects," she explains. "Not only can glass block be used in any room, but the way it is used is everchanging." Glass block gives homeowners the opportunity to create their own unique designs, depending upon their individual preferences and the decor of their home.

The different styles and shapes of glass block not only present countless decorating possibilities but also distinct practical benefits. Each pattern has its own degree of privacy while allowing for maximum light transmission. Some glass block patterns allow moderate light transmission, while others reflect light up to 95 percent. And every style of glass block is resistant to breakage, helping to ensure a home's security. Glass block's easy maintenance makes it a perfect complement to bathrooms and kitchens. When it comes to building materials that are affordable, practical and decorative, nothing else comes close.

Local Pittsburgh Corning distributors can assist with product selection and installation and can be found in the yellow pages under "Glass Block." Pittsburgh Corning products are also available at select local home centers. For a copy of Pittsburgh Corning's idea booklet, send a check for $2.95 to PC GlassBlock® Products, P.O.
